Harris declined to say whether the United States will fly more jets to South Viet Nam to counter the Communist move.

BLOCKADE HITS TURKS

'Without Bread Within Days'

Times News Services

NICOSIA — Turkish-Cypriot leader Dr. Fazl Kuchuk said today it is "only a matter of days" before his people in Cyprus will be without bread as a result of a Greek-Cypriot blockade.

Minister Says Vote Unlikely

By FRANK BUTTER

There is definitely no chance of a federal election this year and prospects are unlikely in 1965, Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill said here today.

The federal cabinet minister pooh-poohed any question that the issue of Canada's new flag could precipitate a vote.

"The public has decided the flag question. It is settled," he said emphatically.

"One of these days Parliament will catch up with the public."

Mr. Pickersgill said Canada will retain the Union Jack as a symbol of its relationship with the Commonwealth and will have its own flag, too.

"The public generally is quite satisfied with this, he declared.

SPECULATION

There has been considerable speculation about an election, not necessarily on the flag issue, but Mr. Pickersgill firmly discounted the idea.

Parliament's approval last week of a supply bill to give the government spending money until Oct. 31 decided that there would be no vote in 1964, Mr. Pickersgill said.

As for next year: "I hope there will be none and don't expect there will be," he added.

David Groos, Victoria's Liberal MP, who is also here today, agreed.

'NOT IN CARDS'

"There is absolutely nothing in the cards," he said.

Mr. Groos said Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker seems to believe the government is trying to manoeuvre him into the position of forcing an election, but this is absolutely unfounded.

"We are determined to sit this thing out," he said.

Mr. Pickersgill is here to open the new airport terminal this evening with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

He had lunch at Government House. Mr. Pickersgill also met Premier W. A. C. Bennett at Kelowna Thursday during the annual regatta celebrations.

RODE TOGETHER
"We had a very nice talk and rode in the parade together," he said.

However, he declined to comment on Mr. Bennett's bid for a chartered bank.

The matter of the Bank of B.C. is still before the Senate. Mr. Pickersgill said his only possible concern with the bank will be as an MP, not as a member of the government.

This would only be, he said, in the event of a private bill incorporating the bank going before the House of Commons. "Private bills rise and fall, you know," was all he would say.

Mr. Pickersgill said that the new airport terminal is an essential link in the Trans-Canada chain.

"I have the feeling that while water traffic and road traffic has taken some of the edge off air travel, it is still going to be very important," he added.

WIRE BRIEFS

Racetrack Blast

MONTREAL (CP)—A bomb explosion today at Richelieu Raceway in suburban Pointe-aux-Trembles ripped away part of a grandstand wall and shattered windows but no injuries were reported.

Six Die in Crash

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police said six persons died Thursday night in a two-car head-on collision on Highway 69, 10 miles north of here.

Plucked from Beach

KETCHIKAN (AP)—Four crew members of the ill-fated power scow Sea Otter were en route to Seward today after being plucked from a rocky beach Thursday night by a U.S. coast guard rescue team.

The men, all in good condition, said they had beached the 75-foot scow after she began flooding faster than her three pumps could expel the water.

Red Satellite Up

No Jurisdiction

OTTAWA (CP)—Authorities here said today the federal Parliament has absolutely no jurisdiction over the Alberta treasury branches or their operations. They were asked to comment on a request by William Dickie, Liberal member of the Alberta legislature for Calgary Glenora, that the Senate investigate the treasury branches.

Peace Talks Resumed

ISTANBUL (Reuters)—Nihat Erim, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Turkish National Assembly, left today for Geneva by air to resume talks on Cyprus peace moves.

France Volunteers

PARIS (AP)—The French government said today the Cyprus problem should be settled through an accord between Greece and Turkey. The government added that France is willing to aid in reaching such an understanding.

He called upon the Turkish government in Ankara to take immediate political steps to bring pressure on President Archbishop Makarios, the Greek-Cypriot leader, to raise the blockade.

He told reporters bakeries will be forced to shut down in two days due to lack of kerosene for ovens in the Turkish quarter.

"Thirty-five thousand people will start to go hungry. We are bread eaters. Bread is necessary to us. We do not have communications everywhere and I am certain there are villages even now with absolutely nothing."

FORCE FAILED

Kuchuk charged Makarios "had attempted to subdue us with force and failed; he is now trying other means."

He said he could not predict what his followers might do if the blockade continued.

Kuchuk is a spokesman for about 100,000 Turkish-Cypriots—about a fifth of the island's population.

The cease-fire brought about by the United Nations security council is still being observed by Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots today and a UN spokesman said no violence had been reported on the island for the third straight day.

GRIVAS TAKES OVER

But while Thant wants more UN troops, Gen. George Grivas, who took over as leader of the Greek-Cypriot National Guard, is reported to have said he considers the UN peace-keeping force "a bloody nuisance."

Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, commander of the UN force, said after a trip to the troubled area in northwest Cyprus, that he felt Grivas, the Greek-born former leader of the anti-British underground, did not want the UN interfering with the Greek-Turk communal struggle that has wracked the island since December.

GREAT HOPES FOR MEETING

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons today he hopes a meeting with opposition party leaders next week will be effective in discussing the progress of parliamentary business. (See Page 3).

Caouette Plans Senate Blockade

OTTAWA (CP)—Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes poised a legislative barrier Thursday in front of all bills from the Senate.

He indicated their aim is to get further action by the upper chamber on a bill seeking a bank charter for the proposed Bank of British Columbia in which that province's Social Credit government holds an interest.

Mr. Caouette served notice in the Commons that his 13-member group will try to block all bills originating in the Senate, which has sent the B.C. bank bill to a committee for study.

A number of measures, including some sponsored by the government, now are on the order paper of the Senate, which can initiate any legislation except that involving spending of public funds. Two private measures seeking bank charters for two other groups started their way through Parliament in the

Martin Outlines Plan in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said today the commander of the UN force in Cyprus wants the force brought up to its authorized strength but he denied that Secretary-General U Thant has asked Canada for additional troops.

Mr. Martin said in the Commons that no formal request has been made for an increase in the 1,125-man Canadian force now serving with the UN under Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India.

But Gen. Thimayya has indicated that he would like to see the force up to the strength authorized by the UN Security Council resolution under which it was established last spring. He did not give the figure of authorized strength.

Mr. Martin said he had suggested to the UN, that in seeking to increase the peacekeeping force, it should look to other countries so far not participating.

CONTRIBUTE 1,200 MEN

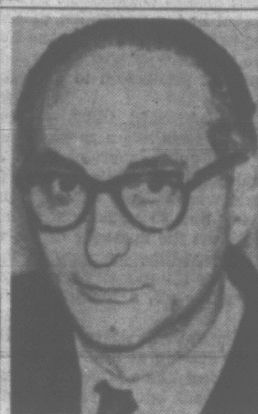

The Commons had authorized up to 1,200 Canadians as this country's contribution. If there was to be any increase beyond that figure for Canada, "of course we would have to come back to the House."

NDP Leader Douglas said that since, next to the United Kingdom, Canada now is the largest contributor to the peacekeeping force, she "has a right to expect" the co-operation of Archbishop Makarios and the government of Cyprus in the force's operation.

Mr. Martin said that was true, but extension of the force's authority is dependent upon agreement between the United Nations and the Cypriot government. Enlargement of the size of the force is dependent upon agreement in the United Nations Security Council.

Mr. Martin, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's request for a report, said the participating countries in the force met Thursday. Canada pressed for "enhancement" of the authority of the force to place it in a better position to carry out its peace-keeping duties on the Mediterranean island. Further talks were planned.

The force was working within "severely circumscribed limits" but, without action on behalf of the force, it would be "Continued on Page 2"

Gun-Toting Gang Raids Dinner Party

From AP-Reuters

BUENOS AIRES (CP)—Former president Arturo Frondizi escaped injury Thursday night in a daring raid on a dinner party by gun-wielding youths who injured four persons.

Among the injured was Frondizi's brother who suffered a broken arm and another man who had his skull fractured.

Police said it was not immediately known if the injuries were caused by bullets or flying furniture.

They said about 15 armed youths burst into the dinner attended by about 600 guests, many of them women.

CONDITION SERIOUS

The man with a fractured skull, believed to be labor union leader Ruiz Diaz, was given an emergency operation and was in serious condition.

A local news agency said Ruiz Diaz was wounded by a bullet which also grazed a parliamentary deputy's head.

At the height of the affray, guests buried bottles, chairs, glasses and cutlery at the youths—then threw themselves to the ground. The youths fled.

Frondizi, deposed in March, 1962, blamed the government of President Arturo Illia. The government declined comment.

$83,000 Airport Robbery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four neatly dressed armed men driving a white automobile forced an American Airlines cashier to open a safe at Kennedy International Airport this morning and made off with $63,000 in cash and $20,000 in cheques, police reported.

The cashier, John Young, told police he was on his way to work when he was approached a block away from his home by a white car. He said the car pulled to the curb, two men jumped out, and he was forced into the back seat at gunpoint.

Young said the car sped to the American Airlines hangar at the airport, where the four men forced him to open the ground floor office and unlock the safe.

WOUNDED BANDIT is carried away on stretcher after being shot by police in Toronto today during abortive attempt to hold up branch of Toronto-Dominion Bank. A second bandit surrendered. (CP Wirephoto)

POLICEMAN GUNS DOWN BANDIT

'Either Him or Me'

TORONTO (CP)—An armed bandit was critically wounded and another arrested today as police flushed them out of an east-end bank they were attempting to rob.

The bandit was shot between the eyes by Const. James Tough as he spun to fire at the constable in the foyer of the Toronto-Dominion Bank branch at the corner of Queen and Logan Streets. Police said he was in grave condition in hospital.

The second bandit, who emerged from the bank clutching a woman as a shield, threw his hands into the air in a gesture of surrender as his accomplice fell. Police said he was not armed.

Police identified the wounded man as Ronald Hobday, 33. They said he would be charged with armed robbery and breaking and entering. Also arrested was his brother, Russell, 34, who faces the same two charges plus one of possessing a sawed-off shotgun that was found in his Toronto home.

"It was either him or me," said Const. Tough, 28, father of two who has been a policeman for three years. "I wasn't going to get shot so I made sure it was him."

Police said the bandits forced their way through the roof of the bank during the night. As nine employees, five of them women, reported for work, they were herded into the manager's office.

PHONE POLICE

The 10th and last employee, a woman clerk, became alarmed when she noticed the blinds were drawn. She ran next door to a confectioner and asked him to phone police.

Const. Tough, patrolling on a motorcycle a block away, arrived with a other policeman a minute later. They ran into the bank and saw the bandits. Const. Tough hid in the foyer while the other policeman ran outside to warn reinforcements who had arrived.

New Regulations Set for Chinese

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Tremblay announced today that effective Sept. 1 Chinese immigrants in Canada illegally will no longer have the privilege of adjusting their status to that of legally-landed immigrants.

He told the Commons during debate on his department's 1964-65 spending program that Chinese smuggled into Canada from early 1960 until early 1962 have had ample time to put their affairs in order.

Henceforth from Sept. 1, 1964, the RCMP and immigration officers are being instructed to apply the law to Chinese in exactly the same way as to other residents of Canada."

This means that after Sept. 1 any Chinese found to be in Canada illegally will be subject to deportation.

SMUGGLED INTO CANADA

The Chinese status adjustment program was adopted in November, 1960, by former Conservative Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough. It was announced after the then Conservative government felt it had broken the back of a racket under which between 6,000 and 9,000 Chinese were smuggled into Canada illegally from Hong OTTAWA—Canada's oolpik will become mascot of the Edmonton Eskimos Football Club, Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing announced today.

Oolpik, an Arctic owl made by Eskimos in Canada's north, has won world-wide fame. According to Eskimo mythology, oolpik is wise and just and always a good-luck symbol.

The flat-footed, eager-eyed owl, four feet high and 70 pounds, will meet the Edmonton club at a luncheon given by the club executive Monday. He will be presented as a team mascot during half-time in Monday night's Edmonton-Calgary game in the Alberta capital.

Laing will be on hand to present the little fellow to Edmonton president Walter Sprague.

Oolpik is used by the trade department as a symbol of Canada in international trade fairs, and by the northern affairs department as a symbol in the promotion of Eskimo craft articles. He was originated by Eskimos at the Fort Chimo, Que., co-operative, who are continuing oolpik production, while licensing other forms of production to Canadian manufacturers.

OKLAHOMA CITY — Seventeen-year-old Jon Ranney says he feels like a monkey just going in circles.

And going in circles he is. Jon won $100 Thursday after breaking the world's record of 40 consecutive hours on a ferris wheel. Now an Oklahoma City amusement park is paying him $3 an hour for every hour he stays in motion. When the manager of the amusement park, where Jon had a part-time job, put up the $100 ante, Jon decided he could use the money for college.

"After all, a hundred bucks is a hundred bucks," he said.

Jon says he doesn't mind the publicity but he's tired of people staring at him.

"I feel like a monkey. These little kids wave at me and I wave back but I sure feel stupid. I like the money though and that makes things better."

Jon has been riding the ferris wheel since Tuesday night. His record broke a mark set by teen-ager Patricia Jones at an Ohio fair last week.

HOUSTON—A Houston realtor went to a house he was trying to sell to see if a for-sale sign was in place. When he got there the house was gone.

Police were alerted to be on the lookout for the house, which was described as 24 by 36 feet, painted white, and containing five rooms and blue composition roof.

RYDE, Isle of Wight—A beggar who sang operatic arias in three languages outside a monastery at 3:30 in the morning was freed after he told the judge he was only "singing for my breakfast."

Murray Walker, 54, was charged with causing malicious damage after he woke up Benedictine monks by singing the arias and smashing at the door of Quarr Abbey near here with his fists and a hoe.

At one time he opened a window, stuck in his head and shouted, "Is anybody there?" The sleeping monks scattered and called the police.

"I only wanted a crust of bread and something to drink," Walker said. A policeman testified Walker was "quite sober" at the time.

WREXHAM, Wales — Robert Pritchard, 19, felt frisky Thursday. So he pinched a pretty girl standing next to him in a bar.

The girl policeman, Barbara Gibbons, promptly arrested Pritchard and took him to the police station.

She got him there after thwarting a break for freedom by the teen-ager and chasing him for a quarter mile.

Pritchard told the court that he didn't pinch. He smacked. The court ruled that was really no defence.

Handing down a fine for common and indecent assault, Magistrate F. Hackett commented: "We must protect our police officers."

BRUNSWICK, Ga. — Five men came close to giving up hope after an unexpected wave capsized the 65-foot oil exploration tug Michael of Morgan City, La.

John Meyer, 25, of New Orleans, and the others were rescued after 46 hours on a life raft.

"If they find that life raft, they'll find my last will and testament scratched on the side," said Meyer, sipping fluid and relaxing today in his bed at Brunswick Hospital.

He said he scratched the will and a log of what happened to them with his knife just in case they died and the raft was found.

The men were spotted by a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter and rescued some 17 miles off the South Georgia coast about 5 p.m. Thursday.

All five were reported in excellent condition save for dehydration and sunburn.

PORTERVILLE, Calif. — Moses has won!

The 2,000-year-old giant redwood tree in Sequoia National Forest has overcome the ravages of an eight-day fire and could live another 20 centuries.

The 250-foot-tall seed redwood was set afire by lightning Aug. 6.

Fifty men, a helicopter, a bulldozer, pumper and tanker trucks plus the latest in forest fire-fighting techniques were utilized to save the tree.

The fire was concentrated in Moses' trunk about 20 feet from the top. A helicopter pilot dropped more than 2,500 gallons of special chemicals and water.

Kong. The program gave landed-immigrant status to those Chinese who came forward and made a voluntary statement as to their illegal status in this country.

Mr. Tremblay said Chinese have complained that this program is discriminatory although it was intended to benefit them. Its purpose had been misunderstood and its success was limited in spite of the fact that it has been in operation for two years.

"While we would not wish to discourage Chinese from voluntarily coming to our offices to set their personal immigration records straight we shall no longer exercise forbearance in respect of immigration violations merely because such voluntary statements are made," he said.

PROBLEM STILL EXISTS

An official of the department said the problem of illegal immigration of Chinese, mainly from Hong Kong, still exists.

However, he said the flow has been reduced to a trickle as far as Canada is concerned.

The minister said immigration officials from many countries told him during a recent visit to Hong Kong that a well-organized and highly efficient illegal Chinese immigration system continues to exist.

"There is evidence that many Chinese immigrants to Canada are in this country illegally," Mr. Tremblay said.

This was an indication that a relatively small number of such Chinese had adjusted their status since November, 1960.

Mr. Tremblay also said that contrary to popular belief he is satisfied large numbers of Chinese in Canada illegally are not close relatives of Canadian residents.

"They were brought here solely for the profit of illegal immigration agents. This is a serious and disturbing situation."

Mr. Tremblay made the announcement in a wide-ranging statement outlining a variety of new steps to encourage the entry to Canada of "substantial" numbers of skilled immigrants.

He also said steps were being taken to speed the arrival of sponsored immigrants, especially close relatives, and to assist the arrival of greater numbers of refugees.

half of the Security Council and agreement by the Cyprus government. "A formal extension of the force's powers need not necessarily be expected."

TO DISCUSS MATTER

Secretary-General U Thant of the UN was determined to see that freedom of movement of the force is established as agreed upon with Greek-Cypriot President Makarios. Gen. Thimayya and the secretary-general's personal representative in Cyprus would be discussing this with the Cyprus authorities.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Martin's remarks about extension of powers for the force is reminiscent of the phrase "conscription if necessary but not necessarily conscription" during the Second World War.

He suggested that Mr. Martin has indicated that the force will have to continue to operate in a way which so far has proved insufficient for the proper discharge of its obligations.

Mr. Martin told Mr. Douglas the Security Council has not opposed extension of the force's powers since the terms of reference were not the council's responsibility. The council delegated to Secretary-General U Thant the responsibility of negotiating with the government of Cyprus on this point.

Mr. Martin, replying to Gordon Churchill (PC — Winnipeg South Centre), said that Canada, not a member of the Security Council, puts its views before the council through council members who share Canada's concern. Canada is in direct contact with all members of the Security Council, he added.

Mr. Churchill wondered why Mr. Martin had not gone to New York himself and used "his persuasive powers." Was there no means by which the minister could appear before the council, Mr. Churchill asked.

"If there was, the minister would have been there," Mr. Martin said.

Mungo's Memorial Hits $702

The Mungo Martin Memorial Fund climbed to $702 today with a $9 donation from the Baha'is of Greater Victoria.

The fund to raise $5,500 for a copper plaque to honor the great Indian carver is supported by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society and a group of interested citizens in Victoria.

Leut-Gov. Pearkes said today, "We should support this memorial to a very great and famous native Canadian with all the vigor at our command."

He feels it should not be allowed to fall into obscurity before it reaches fruition.

Donations are deductible from income tax and may be sent to the Mungo Memorial Fund, care of either the Times or Colonist.

ish Columbia remains unimproved by the Senate.

It is not the first threat of legislative blockade made by the Creditiste leader. At the last session, his group fought a delaying action on legislation until the Ralliement was given the status of a separate political party.

The Creditistes broke away a year ago from the Social Credit party led by Robert Thompson and won recognition as a separate party in the House although Mr. Caouette, whose MPs outnumber those of Mr. Thompson, was placed behind his former leader in precedence in seating and debate.

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver Burrard) asked whether Mr. Caouette was taking his stand by agreement with Premier Bennett of B.C. Mr. Caouette replied: "You asked me whether Bennett let me do this or that... I don't care about this."

The two other bank bills—incorporating the proposed Bank of Western Canada and the proposed Laurentide Bank of Canada—were the objects of Creditiste threats a week ago.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste—Lapointe) said they would be blocked while the B.C. bank remained in Senate hands. The Laurentide Bank bill is on the Commons order paper but was passed over Thursday when it was called for second reading—approval in principle.

McKay Cormack Sales Hit All-Time Record

Profits in the first three months of this financial year topped those for the whole of last year, according to the annual report of McKay Cormack Ltd., Victoria.

Company sales hit an all-time high, with $241,000 business being handled in the three months ending July 31.

Out today, the shipyard's report shows an 100 per cent increase in business last year, sales reaching the $553,000 mark.

This reaped the company a net profit of $33,000.

BUMPER YEAR

If this year's sales continue at the present rate shareholders can expect another bumper year, with volume of business more than doubling once more, the report says.

The company, founded here under another name in 1904, began its boom after new financial interests came into the picture in August last year.

Since then, construction of new berthing facilities and installation of more modern equipment has been undertaken.

BIG INCREASE

Capt. G. A. Veres, managing director, said there had been a tremendous increase in local, tourist, pleasure and commercial traffic.

This accounted for much of the increased business.

An indication of the increasing traffic was shown at the fuel station, where gallonage consumption was up 50 per cent.

Capt. Veres said most of the increase was accounted for by new construction rather than repair jobs.

Body Recovered

PORT COQUITLAM (CP) — Skindivers today recovered the body of a Vancouver businessman who disappeared from his boat while fishing on the Pitt River Thursday. FURTHER DELAY SEEN

Four-Way Vote on Flag Proposed by Tory MP

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives late Thursday night detailed demands for a national plebiscite in a move that may further lengthen the flag debate in the Commons.

The move came when Ken More (PC—Regina) moved a sub-amendment to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's amendment calling for a referendum.

Meanwhile, outside the House it was learned that Prime Minister Pearson has invited party leaders to meet next Tuesday in an effort to reach a compromise on his resolution for a maple leaf flag.

Mr. More's motion would have a national plebiscite ask Canadians the following questions:

1. Are you in favor of the Canadian Red Ensign?
2. Are you in favor of the Canadian Red Ensign changed in some details so as to show the heritage of the two founding races?
3. Are you in favor of a three-maple leaf flag design?
4. Are you in favor of a one-maple leaf design?

The motion would permit all MPs who already have spoken in the protracted debate to make another speech on the flag.

COULD EXTEND DEBATE

Parliamentary observers also saw its introduction as first evidence of an intention, expressed privately by many Conservatives, to extend the flag debate by a series of sub-amendments. So far 32 Conservatives have spoken on Mr. Diefenbaker's amendment.

The flag debate resumes Monday on its ninth day.

Thursday's debate saw the government's proposed maple leaf flag become increasingly embroiled in the biculturalism controversy.

An almost continuous sequence of English-speaking Conservatives dominated the debate Thursday. They accused Mr. Pearson of seeking to appease a minority in Quebec.

A French-speaking Liberal MP from Quebec, Vincent Drouin, argued that the maple leaf flag would be a symbol of Canadian independence. The Red Ensign stood for the one-time domination by England.

Meanwhile, it was understood that next Tuesday's meeting of party leaders would be an attempt to reach a compromise which might satisfy many Conservative MPs, who have declared themselves for adoption of the Canadian Red Ensign as a distinctive symbol.

Informants say the compromise proposals include adoption of a maple leaf flag—but with only one instead of three maple leaves. Such a design has already been endorsed publicly by the New Democratic Party caucus of MPs.

MAY SWAP SYMBOLS

The other suggestion is that the Red Ensign, which now flies over federal buildings, would become the symbol of Canada's Commonwealth connection instead of the Union Jack as now proposed by the Liberal government.

Mr. More said Thursday "we all want to be Canadians and to get along together as Canadians."

NEW PRESIDENT of the International Association of Governmental Labor Officials is B.C. Education Labor Minister Les Peterson. He succeeds Edmonton M. Boggs, Labor and Industry Commissioner of Virginia.

CONDEMNED MAN APPEALS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawrence Herman Haase, convicted of murdering two girls in the Okanagan area last Oct. 7, will appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, his lawyer said Thursday.

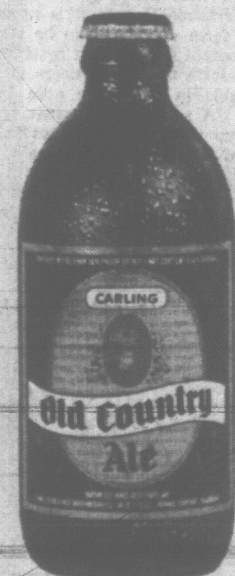

Haase was found guilty by an assize court jury of the capital murder of Donna Ring, and the non-capital murder of her twin sister Dianna. Their stabbed and beaten bodies were found in bush about one mile from their home at Mabel Lake, near Vernon.

Last week, the B.C. Court of Appeal upheld the verdict of the Kamloops jury.

Ready to Take Charge?

THE CALL OF UNITED Nations Secretary-General U Thant to contributing nations to increase their forces on Cyprus indicates both a realization of the increasing gravity of the situation on the island and a hope that the U.N. police force will be materially strengthened.

But it will require more than increased manpower to make the United Nations a real force for peace on Cyprus. As a dispatch on this page today makes clear, the powers of the police force are not sufficient to enable them to exert effective control and it may be too late at this juncture to correct the situation.

The Cypriot minister of the interior was quoted as saying that "forty thousand U.N. troops could not solve our problems now. The problem is political."

It is basically political, of course, but a United Nations group of sufficient size and with sufficient powers to enforce a complete truce could contribute essentially to the achievement of a political settlement. For it is obvious that while raids and retaliatory raids continue there is little chance of calm negotiation towards a political answer.

There is, of course, the willingness of the contributing nations — Canada among them — to assume greater powers than the United Nations troops already possess. Mr. Pearson made it a condition of Canada's participation in the Cyprus action that our contingent's presence should have the full consent of the Cypriot government.

President Makarios has not been averse to having the U.N. force on the scene, but it has been subject to humiliating restrictions to the point of being ineffective. The troops engaged in this complex task of diplomacy and security are doing an excellent job in the face of frustrating handicaps. Whether the Cypriot government would agree to the U.N. force being given sufficient powers to enable it to control the situation is quite another question.

President Makarios and his Greek-Cypriot spokesmen have shown no disposition to give an inch — even if their intransigence should threaten a world war. The Greek motherland itself has recently drawn back from such brinkmanship and indicated to the Greek-Cypriots that they should renounce military actions and concentrate on a negotiated settlement.

Turkey, though determined to protect its minority on the island, has shown commendable restraint in agreeing to discuss a compromise solution. The general situation is perhaps a little more hopeful than it was. But it is hard to escape the feeling that a stronger U.N. force would do a lot of good.

After all, it is the larger nations which would have to bear the brunt of any conflict precipitated by the Cypriot quarrel. How far can half a million people be permitted to go in threatening the whole earth with the danger of war?

The Sundered People

YESTERDAY AN ANNIVERSARY passed quietly in the city where the impossible happened. A modern metropolis was cut in two almost overnight three years ago. Except for relatively isolated violations, transportation and communications of every kind were severed, 60,000 workers in one part lost their jobs in the other, one of the great cities of the world was tied with an ideological tourniquet.

It seemed impossible that this could happen and become a routine situation. Yet that is the case, and the Berlin wall today is an apparently permanent fixture.

No less escape-proof is the no-man's land and fence which divide all of East and West Germany, reversing history, negating humanity, making two peoples out of one. This, too, seemed an impossibility at one time; now it is accepted as normal.

The arrangement which saw a lifting of Berlin's barriers last Christmas has inspired negotiations in the intervening months. There is hope that regulations may be eased to permit visiting between West and East Berlin. But there is little more than hope; many Berliners, indeed, feel that such an arrangement, by making the wall more endurable, would perpetuate its existence.

Meanwhile the wall remains, an evil, ugly thing composed of oppression, mortared with hate, and spattered with the blood of many who chose freedom but received death.

NO REASON WAS GIVEN IN the brief news story from Vancouver for the beating of a 12-year-old boy, reportedly knocked from his bicycle and punched by a gang of youths ranging, by the victim's estimate, from 14 to 18 years.

The chilling probability is that there was no reason, apart from the explanations psychologists and psychiatrists can offer. This could be part of a familiar behaviour pattern for young hoodlums — explicable only through development of hostility from seeds planted deeply in their make-ups.

Such young people do not require a "reason" in the form of personal dislike for a potential victim. They move in what Magistrate Ostler here has called "dog packs" and they vent their viciousness on targets, usually unable to fight back, just "for kicks."

The dismaying development seems to be that the brutality of one evening has to be outdone by greater brutality the next in a crescendo of violence.

This is the pattern so disturbing to many people in this community deeply concerned recently by gang attacks. It also provides a warning to parents not to dismiss lightly any "rumbles" in which their children may become involved.

These are not the relatively healthy fights of burgeoning youth out to prove its muscle in fair contests against others of their like also anxious to test their muscle. This is a very different and infinitely more dangerous development.

Too Many Tinder Piles

WHILE MAJOR CONCERN FOR world peace centres for the moment on Cyprus and on Viet Nam, President Ayub Khan, speaking in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, reminds the world that there are by no means the only areas where smoldering embers of resentment could be fanned into major conflagrations.

Apart from the serious conflict of interests between the United States and Communist China in Viet Nam, Laos and Formosa, he points out, there are sharp divisions between India and Communist China, between India and Pakistan and between Indonesia and Malaysia. And each of these could escalate into the next great war.

This does not take into account the hostilities in various parts of Africa, nor the problems of the Caribbean, centring around Cuba.

The urgency of our days — influences as they are by the "refinements" of atomic power since its preview a generation ago in Japan — cries out for a revival of the spirit of San Francisco when a war-weary world, seeking to bind up its wounds, embarked on what was then called man's best hope for peace.

It is still man's best hope, in the minds of most sane individuals, but men in all sectors of the globe should pause now to remember the atmosphere in which the United Nations was created. It is still too soon to forget that atmosphere — or to ignore the obvious fact that a major outbreak at this time could be the last war our civilizations will know.

Traffic for the Tiber?

THE RIVER HAS BEEN PUT TO good use on many occasions since those "brave days of old" when Horatius kept the bridge, but in the opinion of some present Romans, "Father Tiber" has been drowning too long in the sun and it's time he went back to work.

His chore, according to current reports, could be to relieve road traffic congestion in the Eternal City. It could fill that function, with a little dredging and construction of landing areas, by carrying water "buses", shallow draft vessels that would ply between the densely populated sections through which it moves.

As a tourist attraction and as a means of public conveyance such a water transit service would have several virtues. It is within touching distance of historic spots and it would provide an additional, desperately-needed artery to move people from place to place in rush hours.

The Romans, who still use in part the aqueduct which brought their empire-building forebears good water from distant hills, are practical enough to see the advantages of this development. While other centres throughout Europe have utilized and still use their rivers, lakes and canals extensively to move humans and cargo, modern Romans have heretofore ignored this potential.

Presumably they are now ready to remedy that oversight. Before long the ancient banks may echo to the modern cry of the water bus conductor, or pilot, to the unwary swimmer in the moving: "Pull over, Horatius, we're moving through."

FROM NICOSIA

U.N. in Cyprus—Police Without Power

THE position of the United Nations in Cyprus has become more humiliating than ever. It was embarrassing from the start, with terms of the mandate prohibiting the UN from taking any action except in self-defence. The UN troops' only weapon is the moral prestige of their presence; their only strategy is persuasion.

This is true of other UN peacekeeping operations, and one would think that the morale of troops here would be higher than in, say, the Gaza strip, because of the higher level of civilization here. But this is not always so, judging from random conversations with soldiers. In the Gaza strip the two sides being kept apart by the UN are secretly thankful; they do not want to fight. But here one side—the Greek-Cypriot—has been openly treating the UN as its instrument.

Meaning of 'Normality'
As Greek-Cypriot spokesmen said in the early days of the operation, the UN function was to help restore normality. The word meant "Greek-Cypriot supremacy."

But now the official attitude has become almost contemptuous, and there is nothing the UN can do about it. The mandate omits a basic requisite—freedom of movement for UN troops. They cannot go anywhere or do anything except with consent of the government, i.e., the Greek-Cypriots. Even in Turkish-controlled areas all UN vehicles must stop when challenged by Turkish militiamen.

There has been considerable agitation by journalistic observers for strengthening the UN mandate to allow freedom of movement, freedom of inspection, and the right to disarm local inhabitants and even suppress the police forces. This would have met strong local opposition ("If we give the police role to the UN we are no longer a government," in the words of the interior ministry director-general), but if this writer were writing two months ago he would have joined the chorus. Now it is too late.

Any strengthening of the UN mandate now will make the UN an enemy in the eyes of Greek-Cypriots. UN troops would become subject to terrorism, and they could not win. Perhaps they could have established UN control by force earlier, but they cannot do it now. The Greek-Cypriots have the military upper hand. The UN can only watch what the future brings, and wring its hands.

What will the future bring? The possibility of Turkish invasion remains. Turkish-Cypriot leaders believe Turkish invasion is their only hope. The Turkish government, which has only a small majority, is under powerful agitation to ignore allied restraints and go ahead with invasion.

(Greek-Cypriots claim Turkey is keeping up interventionist propaganda to keep the people's minds off graft and the country's economic plight.)

Invasion Difficult

Invasion may once have been possible. Now it will be extremely difficult. Even if the Turks established a surface appearance of military control, they too would become exposed to the efficient Greek underground terrorism. They would have to massacre the Greeks to secure themselves, and they probably would try to. They did it not so long ago at Smyrna.

By RICHARD PURSER

But they have to remember this: at the first sign of a Turkish landing, every Turk in every mixed village in Cyprus would be murdered where he stood. It would have to be an unusually rapid Turkish occupation to save the Turkish population here.

If a Turkish invasion continues to be headed off by a combination of domestic confusion, allied pressure and international mediation, the question of restoring "normality" in Cyprus remains. A large tract of Cyprus north of Nicosia and including much of the capital city itself, plus several smaller areas and villages elsewhere, is under Turkish control.

Prospect of Coup

The Greek-Cypriots may not be far from the ability to stage a coup against these areas and establish military control of Turkish quarters. UN troops at present stand between Greeks and Turks throughout the island, but if the Greeks stage a serious advance UN troops can only step aside.

What will really happen is a matter of conjecture. If Turkish nerves hold for the next two months and if peace can be maintained under UN auspices during that time, President Makarios may play his cards before the UN General Assembly in October.

Many of his supporters hope that his foreign minister, a dogged fighter named Spyros Kyprianou, will introduce a resolution calling for unhindered self-determination. Greek Cypriots hopefully calculate that this would readily pass with a majority vote of Communist and Afro-Asian nations. The government here would then use the vote as an excuse to occupy the whole country, while UN troops are forced to hide on their bases.

Stressing The Split

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE deliberate playing down of the Viet Nam crisis by Moscow is further proof of Khrushchev's determination to work towards an understanding with the West and one more demonstration of the finality of the breach with Peking.

To get the present situation into perspective one has only to recall the uproar over Suez, with Khrushchev's brandishing of the atom bomb.

Until a short time ago, the American action against North Viet Nam would have been magnified by Moscow into a major war scare and the air would have been full of threats and boasts about the invincible solidarity of the Socialist camp, including China.

Now, while China accuses the United States of moving "over the brink of war," the Soviet Union contents itself with a mild warning that such action could lead to "widespread military conflict." Solidarity with China is not mentioned.

Moscow Determined

It is safe to say that Moscow is determined to stay disengaged in Southeast Asia, at any rate for a long time to come. Khrushchev's decision to wash his hands of Laos was a firm sign of this.

The idea that the explosive situation in Viet Nam might draw Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung closer together can be held only by those who have not grasped the seriousness of the split—a word for some time past used by the Russians themselves. Since the split became open some 18 months ago, little has happened to publicize it in the West—but the Soviet and Chinese press harp on it incessantly and in the bitterest terms.

The Soviet press has been engaged in a deliberate campaign of indoctrination. The situation which even six months ago was fully understood only by party officials is being rammed home again and again to the ordinary Russian, who now knows that the Soviet leadership is accusing China not only of heresy and factionalism, but also of a deliberate attempt to seize hegemony over the Communist world.

No Theoretical Quarrel

As Khrushchev himself said in June: "If in the past some comrades imagined that this was merely a theoretical quarrel, today there is absolutely no ground for holding such a view. The situation has become much more serious and we are revealing the facts to all Communists and to the entire Soviet people with perfect frankness. . . . This is not simply a theoretical quarrel, not merely an ideological polemic. It is a far-reaching schismatic movement which aims to impose political domination over the Socialist camp and the world-wide Communist movement."

The Chinese themselves are much more selective in their attacks on the Russians — though, if possible, even more bitter in detail. They go to some pains to represent themselves to the outer world as sweetly reasonable and forgiving.

GIVE WITH BOTH HANDS

Charity begins at home, truly, but charity should not stay at home for ever. It would be wrong, surely, to disregard the needs of people whose standard of living actually is much lower than the poor members of our own society. I think we ought to be able to deal with both problems.

Teach Them Values

A reassuring fact of human existence is that truth cannot long be suppressed. This is apparent in the recent evidence on promiscuity and its attendant evils. The present trend indeed must give all thinking parents cause for concern and promote a searching enquiry into the effectiveness of our present pillars of society, law, education, and religion.

Certainly it is not very encouraging to note prominent representatives of these groups hastily scrambling for cover protesting weakly that their skirts are clean. The comments of a local psychologist that "it is a multi-causal problem which calls for deep study" must have left many parents wondering where to get off.

It has been said that in the end the world's problems will be solved by the heart and not with the head. Perhaps we are depending too much on the formal structures of society and not digging deep enough into the soul of man for the answer. We tend to live in a capsule world where everything can be explained by electronics and logic, but all the statistics in the world will not dry a child's tears, comfort a mother's grief, or explain the beauty of a sunset.

The old order changeth giving place to the new and we must provide a more dynamic approach to life. Law and education are progressive but spiritual development unless given a broader concept will wither on the vine. Succeeding generations are becoming too intelligent and too well informed to become intimidated by threat of punishment or the wages of sin and view such approaches with resentment.

Somehow we must learn to teach our children to live naturally in a world governed by cause and effect. Teach them to develop values and distinguish between temporary physical gains and long-term spiritual benefits and do this with love and understanding and a deep sense of humility.

Local Responsibility

There is no doubt in my mind that to supply an adequate public transportation system with passenger-tolls being held at a reasonable rate it is necessary for some form of subsidy to be worked out. The benefit from such a system, although greatest to the actual users is also considerable to the entire area in indirect ways. A satisfactory transit system will hold up the property values in the residential fringe areas, maintain the commercial values in the downtown area and it will eliminate the necessity of abnormal road construction or the building of extra parking facilities—both of which within each area so serviced but not by any users of power from outside the areas. In Victoria this would mean the power users in the city of Victoria, the municipalities of Oak Bay and Esquimalt and those sections of Saanich and View Royal, etc., that are actually serviced by the transportation system. Any thought of the power users in Sidney, rural Saanich, Nanaimo or even Prince George contributing to this subsidy is ridiculous. They have their own transportation problems.

Any endeavor to subsidize a local transportation system out of provincial consolidated revenue or from the gross revenues of the Power Authority means that the entire province is in effect making up this subsidy. For certain service within the province where it is difficult or impossible to measure who are the true beneficiaries this type of subsidy may be necessary; but here we have a clear cut situation where those deriving the benefits are the local people, including the home occupier, the businessman and the industrial entrepreneur. It is clear that they must support their own transportation system and to do this through adjusted power rates is not only equitable but also, and this is important, it is administratively feasible at a low cost of collection.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

MY MAIL from columns about the keener sense of charity in Quebec has been substantial. With one exception, the writers believe that there is a racket in charitable donations and it has reached scandalous proportions.

The exception comes from one who signs his name and gives an accurate address. His point is that the practice of giving receipts for donations to parish churches which go well beyond the donation actually given is a waning one.

He states that the effective turn in the situation came through the intervention of Cardinal Leger two years ago. This intervention took the form of letters which forbade the practice. There have been follow-ups since then, according to my correspondent, which have let the clergy know that there must be a stop.

Several writers offered to provide me with receipts for income tax purposes. One of them has asked me to indicate in this column that I am interested in pursuing the offer further. I am.

One writer remarks on the alterations in the practice since both the church and taxation authorities began to crack down several years ago. Now it is no longer possible to get a receipt for more than $250 (at a cost of $2.50). As the writer says: "... the practice has been administered with a great deal more circumspection."

A check of Hansard over the past four years does not reveal a wealth of information but beginning in 1961 members of Parliament from Quebec indicated a restiveness over the work of income tax officials. This mood sharpened with the advent of Creditistes to the Commons in '62 and since then the ministers of national revenue have been hit fairly hard with questions which indicate a tougher line by the officials.

A Minister Replies

The first outline of tighter control began to appear after July 5, 1961. On that day MP Alexis Caron (Lib., Hull) asked:

"Mr. Speaker, I should like to know if the Income Tax inspectors have been authorized to ask various Montreal parish priests to sign the following letter, as reported in this morning's Le Devoir:

"I, the undersigned, parish priest, authorize the income tax officers to modify, annul or change the receipts given in my parish for charitable donations."

"This is a monstrosity that cannot be tolerated," said Mr. Caron.

The Speaker intervened and there was an undertaking that a reply would be given later.

Next day the acting minister of national revenue replied:

"Mr. Speaker, yesterday the Hon. Members for Hull and Laurier inquired in respect to reported activities on the part of taxation officials in the Montreal area.

"The report referred to concerned a written authorization to amend or cancel charitable receipts, and is part of the administrative procedure which is applicable everywhere in Canada where the issuer of the receipt is relying on information supplied him by the taxpayers. This procedure is being utilized after consultations by officers of the department with religious authorities and requires no specific authorization from the minister."

A Taxman Calls

Several other Hansard extracts illuminate the matter further. On July 10, 1963, the then revenue minister, Jack Garland, replied to a question from Real Caouette about visits of officials to presbyteries in Rouyn-Noranda. Mr. Garland said:

"Income tax officials are authorized to call on people who give out receipts for charitable donations in order to make sure that those receipts are genuine. ... Under that general authorization, the officials in Rouyn have visited some rectories.

"Those officials have the power to reject or reduce claims ... when they have reason to believe that the donations were smaller than the amounts claimed."

I assume that this rather arbitrary authority was given to the tax officials in order that they could straighten out a person's racketeering in charitable receipts without taking either the issuer or the receiver into court.

Later in 1963 Mr. Garland said: "The same policy is carried out in the Quebec office as is carried out in the rest of Canada."

I have drawn several conclusions about the manifestations of concern by the Creditistes and the relative taciturnity of ministers in giving information.

Firstly, a racket of alarming proportions has been going on for many years, and both officials and church authorities decided a few years ago it must be curbed.

Secondly, officials have moved to do this through the arbitrary powers set out above which keeps the government from taking to court hundreds and thousands of people who have sent in false returns.

Thirdly, the practice was widely known by politicians and officials of the major parties in Quebec for a long time. It took the brash spokesman for the Quebec common man, the Creditiste, to bring both the defence and the scale of the practice out in the open.

B.C. SYNOPSIS: A ridge of high pressure continues to lie along the coast of B.C. and another generally sunny day is in prospect for most of the province. An onshore flow of moist air is expected to keep the north coast under considerable cloudiness throughout the day. A new Pacific disturbance will spread cloudy showery conditions along the entire coast on Saturday but it will be late in the day before this weather begins to extend into the Interior. Cooler conditions can be expected on the south coast tomorrow with very little change in temperatures in other regions.

Striking Men Deserting Town

THOMPSON, Man. (CP)—Ken MacMaster, president of Local 6166, United Steelworkers of America (CLC) said Thursday night that hundreds of men were leaving this northern Manitoba mining community where 1,700 workers are on strike against the only industry.

He said in an interview that the men, most of them single, began to trickle away before the strike against International Nickel Company of Canada officially started Wednesday and now were leaving by the hundreds.

"Transair has scheduled four flights out of Thompson Friday and three on Saturday and we understand the CNR might arrange an extra train to pick up men," Mr. MacMaster said.

The CNR ticket agent here said about 450 persons bought tickets on the Thursday night train out of Thompson. He said about 300 of these were one-way.

HALF EMPTY

Mr. MacMaster said a camp which housed 500 unmarried men and workers who had left their families behind was about half empty Thursday night. He said many others who had room and board in town had gone back to Winnipeg and other provinces to look for work.

The union official said everything was quiet on picket lines in front of the INCO plant and the men were "prepared for the worst as far as the duration of the strike is concerned."

"We have 20 pickets on each shift now and starting soon we will have 40, covering the main road as well as tracks and roadways into the plant," Mr. MacMaster said.

He said there was no sign of a resumption of negotiations, which ended Tuesday with a last-minute "basis for settlement" which was rejected the next day by union members.

Nabob visits Victoria for the first time since she was commissioned as British flat top. (Halkett photos)

GERMAN NOW

'Nabob' Returns After 20 Years

By RON SUDLOW

The Nabob, a German merchant ship which survived two narrow escapes, in its younger days, arrived in Victoria this morning to discharge cargo.

She originally served as a Royal Navy baby flat top but was torpedoed Aug. 22, 1944, while providing air cover to an attack force assaulting the German battleship Tirpitz.

However, she managed to limp back to her home at Scapa Flow in the Orkneys, but was out of action for the remainder of the Second World War.

After the war, she was sold as scrap to a Dutch firm.

But in 1952, she was saved from the scrap heap by the North German Lloyd shipping firm which ripped off her buckled flat-top deck, straightened her hull and installed British engines.

Her home port is now Bremen.

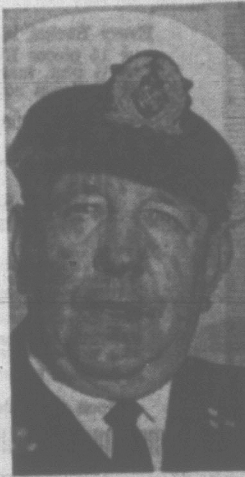

"We now provide regular service between Germany and the west coast of Canada," said her master, Capt. Karl Kuhlrig.

"This run we are carrying seven passengers."

"The Nabob also serves as a training ship for cadets of our company. We have 18 apprentices aboard," he added.

This is the first trip to Victoria for the Nabob since she was commissioned here before steaming for the North Atlantic as HMS Nabob with a Canadian crew of 600.

The Nabob has called at Van-

KUHLRIG... reunion Saturday

couver, Harmac and Crofton on previous West Coast trips.

"We will be picking up 4,000 tons of cargo, mostly pulp, from Vancouver Island," Capt. Kuhlrig said.

"Tomorrow we will be in Vancouver, where we will hold a reunion with her old crew members."

Capt. Kuhlrig was chief officer aboard the German catapult ship Friesland when the Nabob was torpedoed only 50 miles away.

"We catapulted reconnaissance planes against Murmansk convoys," the captain said. "I was stationed inside the Arctic Circle for three years from 1941 to 1944."

POWER SALE

Columbia Signing 2-Day Job

It has taken two days to complete signing of a contract for the U.S. to buy $254.4 million worth of Columbia River power from B.C.

Signing began in Seattle Thursday.

Public and private U.S. utilities are agreeing to buy the power until 2003.

The power consists of downstream benefits from the Columbia River Treaty dams to be built in B.C.

It took two days to sign because representatives of 14 public utilities, 11 municipalities, 12 co-operatives and four private utilities from the U.S. are involved.

B.C. Hydro is the Canadian signer.

The U.S. groups have combined under the name of Columbia Storage Power Exchange, a non-profit organization which will raise the money to be paid to B.C. Oct. 1.

The contract will be held in escrow until then.

Sudden Violence Marks 'Hour of Silence' at Berlin Wall

Times News Services
BERLIN — West Berliners observed an hour of silence Thursday on the third anniversary of the Communist-built wall. Then silence turned to violence as rioters surged to the barricade and attacked a Soviet army car.

"The wall must go!" shouted the demonstrators. Others sent a truck trailer smashing through barriers put up to keep West Berliners away from the wall between East and West Berlin.

West Berlin police, swinging clubs, dispersed the rock-throwing demonstrators. One leather-jacketed youth was knocked to the ground, where he lay bleeding and unconscious.

A crowd of about 500 West Berliners surrounded the Soviet military car in West Berlin, kicked it and tore off its licence plate as the driver passed through to East Berlin.

The car drove through the crowd assembled at Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing-point for foreigners. Police said the Russians missed signs re-routing traffic in the area and drove through the crowd by mistake. An American military policeman said there were four Russian officers in the car. The crowd rained fists on the roof and windows but did not attack the passengers.

Demonstrators pushed the truck trailer from a parking lot and sent it speeding down the street toward the police barriers before stopping some distance from the wall. The demonstrators raced for the breach in the barriers, but police closed ranks, swung their clubs and held off the demonstrators.

The wall was built three years ago by the Communists to stop the Westward exodus of East Germans. Since then, 53 East Germans have died trying to scale the wall. To pay homage to the dead, the West Berlin government asked all West Berliners to observe an hour's silence at 8 p.m.

Canadian Sulphur Meets Heavy Resistance in U.S.

By ARCH MACKENZIE
WASHINGTON (CP) — Western Canada's burgeoning sulphur industry, a valuable by-product of Alberta and other natural gas, is meeting stiff United States resistance in its drive to penetrate the big mid-west market.

Canada has vaulted into second place in world sulphur production the last few years, raising output from natural gas to about 2,000,000 tons annually from a few thousand.

The international market shows steadily increasing demand for this brimstone, chiefly because of rising emphasis on fertilizers. Meanwhile, Canadian exports to the U.S. have caused market dislocations sharp enough to bring some spirited reaction.

Both American and Canadian informants here say this is the usual commercial pattern of events when a new product begins to intrude in established territory.

The U.S. treasury department at the request of an unidentified American concern has launched a preliminary examination of allegations that Canadian producers are "dumping" their product in the U.S.—selling at "less than fair value" and below their Canadian levels.

The Canadian firms are listed as Shell, Texas Gulf Sulphur's Canadian subsidiary, Jefferson Lake and a firm in which Socom-Mobil has an interest.

EXHAUSTIVE TESTS SHOW

One-Drink Drivers Have Fewer Mishaps

LONDON (UPI)—A test on American drivers has indicated that drivers who have drunk a little have fewer accidents than those who have not drunk at all.

Prof. R. F. Borkenstein, of Indiana University's department of police administration, reported to the European Alcoholism Institute Wednesday on a survey in 1962-63 in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Borkenstein said he and his team interviewed 7,500 drivers at picked control points and another 6,000 drivers at scenes of accidents.

The best drivers, Borkenstein said, are the highly educated, the middle-aged and those with good jobs. Drivers with the worst accident records are the young, the very old, the uneducated and the inexperienced.

These factors tended to disappear when drink was involved, he said.

But Borkenstein said his team was surprised by results on drivers with 10 to 40 milligram concentration of alcohol—about the equivalent of one shot of whisky—per 100 centimeters of blood. Drivers in this class have fewer accidents than those with no blood alcohol at all, he said.

Cadets End Expedition 'Northtip'

Eighteen cadets of the navy's short service officer plan have completed "Expedition Northtip" which took them to the top of Vancouver Island.

The week-long exercise, under the supervision of the staff of HMCS Venture, the Esquimalt cadet training centre, was undertaken in auxiliary vessels YMT 10 and YFP 312.

In command was Cdr. W. H. I. Atkinson, Venture's recently-appointed commanding officer.

The training program consisted of navigation, seamanship, survival routines and compass work on a 22-mile return cross-country trek from Port McNeill to Rupert Inlet.

WEeping CAFE OWNER

'You've Killed My Business'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Restaurant owner Lester Maddox pledged to continue his court fight against the federal civil rights law after he closed the doors of his segregated eating place rather than admit Negroes.

"I'd be a fool if I didn't take it to the U.S. Supreme Court," he told about 80 spectators and reporters outside the restaurant Thursday.

With tears streaming down his cheeks, Maddox said he was confident that "with the help of Almighty God and free people everywhere, the court will say to Congress you have violated the constitution."

"They have killed my business and helped kill the American free enterprise system," he sobbed.

The scene took place shortly after two Atlanta Negro students, Calvin Jones and Gary Robinson, sought service. Maddox met them at the door of the restaurant, named the Pickrick. He called them Communists, then shouted: "You've stolen my business. Get out of my door. You've just put 66 people out of work."

HIRES 44 NEGROES

Of the 66 employees at the $500,000 restaurant, 44 are Negroes, he said. All will be taken care of as long as "there is a dime in the chequebook."

A three-judge federal court issued a ruling July 22 directing Maddox to comply with the public accommodations section of the civil rights law. The court set Tuesday, Aug. 11, as the date for compliance.

Justice Hugo L. Black of the U.S. Supreme Court turned down a request for an order staying the effectiveness of the ruling.

Maddox kept his restaurant open and segregated until Thursday.

Negroes attempted to eat at the Pickrick without success on several occasions Tuesday. Then a federal judge signed an order asking Maddox to show cause why he should not be held in civil contempt.

A hearing was set for Aug. 19 and then changed to Aug. 20. But the matter may have been made moot by the closing of the restaurant.

Old Statue Found

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet archeologists have unearthed a 2,000-year-old bronze statue of a leaping horse with rider, believed to be almost unique. It was found on the site of a Graeco-Byzantine town on the Crimean coast near Yevpatoriya under six feet of earth.

EARLY WINTER IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — The overnight temperature in Montreal reached a record low for the date and in Ottawa tied the record low, the public weather office said today.

The mercury dropped to 50 degrees in Montreal, one degree below the previous record for the day set in 1879. It was colder in Ottawa, 45, but that thermometer reading only tied the previous record low for the day set in 1905.

Negro Chief Remains Restricted

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Southern Rhodesia's white-ruled minority government Thursday refused to free Negro nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo from restriction in a remote game preserve although an appeal court ruled his detention is illegal.

Justice Minister W. Desmond Larner-Burke told Parliament that Nkomo and certain other Negro leaders were being kept in custody to maintain law and order.

Nkomo and about 100 other nationalists had been ordered freed earlier today by Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle of the appellate division of the High Court.

He ruled that restriction orders against Nkomo and the others were unlawful, thus upholding a recent High Court decision.

Nkomo, 43, and his followers had been ordered confined for a year on charges they had stirred violence and disrupted the economy.

Ale is not another name for beer.
(It's brewed bottoms up.)

We know Ale is different from beer, because we brew both. Beer yeast works willingly at the bottom of the vat. But our stubborn Ale strain starts its career at the top. So we brew our Ale upside down—with a notable difference in flavour. Will you enjoy the difference? Only one way to prove it. Same way we brew it. Bottoms up.

A SERVICE STARTS, ANOTHER ENDS

Changes Come Along West Coast

Bus Now Serves Port Renfrew

Ghosts of the old stage lines were revived when John Drury hit the trail again this week.

His mode of transport was a little quicker, far more comfortable and infinitely less hazardous.

Yet there was something reminiscent of the past as his old bus trundled along the road to Port Renfrew.

TRAIL BETTER

The trail itself was in better condition than ever it was when the stage passed by. But even now there is nothing to remind one of the luxuries of highway driving.

Aboard the bus for its maiden voyage this week were just six people.

To Mr. Drury the service is a dream come true.

TRAFFIC GROWS

Over the years he has watched traffic grow on the West Coast Road. At last he decided the time was ripe to introduce his service from Victoria.

Cost of a one-way ticket for the 75-mile journey aboard the Drury Special is $3.40. Return is only $5.50.

Many of the people using the service will be loggers and miners. Up to now, cab fare to Port Renfrew has been about $25.

FREIGHT TOO

Mr. Drury will also carry freight in a space made by ripping out 13 of the bus' seats.

Only snag with the present schedule is that it means an overnight stay.

And the service does not operate each day of the week for economic reasons.

It operates out of C & C Transportation Depot, 906 Government Street.

Scores in Regatta

DUNCAN—Dale F. Robertson from here scored 52 points in the National Boy Scout Regatta at Charlottetown after five races. Leader was a Calgary crew with 82½ points.

Driving 'Like Idiot' Results in $65 Fine

DUNCAN—Fining a Duncan man $65 for speeding and driving contrary to the city's anti-noise bylaw, Magistrate D. K. McAdam told him: "You don't have to drive like an idiot."

Pleading guilty to both offences in magistrate's court Thursday was D. B. Walker.

The court was told Walker took off from a local cafe early one morning with his car tires spinning a hole in the gravel portion of the Trans-Canada Highway and leaving a long black skidmark on the blacktop.

A short while later a following police car clocked him at 56 miles-an-hour in the 30 mile limit.

Walker had a previous similar conviction.

Stock Brands Act Test Case Brings Farmer $10 Fine

A test case under the Stock Brands Act ended Thursday in a $10 fine for Lorne McNutt, of Alan Road.

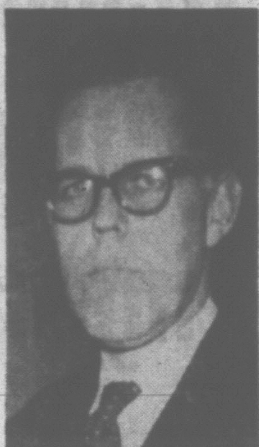

McNutt, farmer and president of a supermarket company, was charged with trading in livestock without a licence.

He admitted he had bought cattle and sent them to be slaughtered, but held through counsel Jack Gatehouse that he needed no licence because he is a bona fide farmer.

The magistrate ruled the transactions had been in his capacity as head of the supermarket rather than in his capacity as a farmer.

NORTH ISLAND AIR CHARTER PROPOSED

Local residents and tourists may soon be able to take an air trip around Vancouver Island.

The idea will be put to the next meeting of V.I. Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Originator of the idea is retired civil servant Barclay Shaw.

In the light of awakened interest in up-Island points, he proposes a 25-passenger aircraft be chartered to follow the Island's coastline.

Clayoquot P.O. Closes Door

CLAYOQUOT—The post office here—oldest on the west coast—has closed.

Mayor Les Hammer, of Port Alberni, and supervisory postmaster for the West Coast area, officiated at the closing ceremony.

This consisted of handing over books and ledgers used at the Clayoquot Hotel and store, by Mrs. Betty Farmer, who had operated Shubbs Island Commercial Enterprises until selling out last month.

OLD ACCOUNTS

Accounts kept in the ledgers date back to the days of fur seal hunting on the West Coast when the late W. T. Dawley ran a hotel, store and post office.

Prospectors and surveyors made up the bulk of guests at the hotel, while names of early mining promoters are also on the record.

Mrs. Farmer, who is making her home in Tofino, gave the records to Mr. Hammer to keep for an Alberni Valley museum.

URGES MUSEUM

The mayor said he was interested in having a museum started in the district.

He also announced plans are under way to close Kawkawis post office on Meares Island.

Residents here must now send their mail from Tofino.

NANAIMO—Fines will go up for motorists ignoring the "No left turn between 4 and 6 p.m. sign" at Albert Street and Victoria Crescent.

Fining four offenders $15, Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts warned that in future the fine would be $18.50 if the offence continued to occur.

RCMP said enforcement of traffic regulations at all traffic trouble spots in the city would continue.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Dynamite Cap Injures Boy

LADYSMITH (CP)—Klaus Laakso, 15, of Ladysmith, is in St. Joseph's Hospital following an accident Tuesday in which a dynamite cap exploded.

His condition is good.

The youth was walking near here when he picked up a small metal cylinder lying on the ground.

The cylinder, later identified as a dynamite cap, exploded when he picked it up, blowing off one finger.

The road link to the north end of Vancouver Island will be open to weekend traffic.

Officials at Crown Zellerbach say repairs to their Beaver Cove Bridge have advanced sufficiently to permit travel in that time.

It will open Friday, 6 p.m. to midnight Sunday.

NANAIMO—Support for lifeguards in this area is not too good.

So says Frank Anzik, head of Nanaimo and District Water Safety Association.

He said enough money to pay lifeguards so far had been scraped together. But a further $1,000 will be needed for August.

He expressed concern over the lack of public support of the association which hires lifeguards for Departure Bay, Harwood Dam and Westwood Lake beaches.

A giant bingo session later in the month may be the answer to the financial difficulties facing the association, he added.

DUNCAN—H Cowichan Jersey Club were winners of an elimination contest for the PNE at Cowichan Exhibition Grounds this week.

The team, consisting of Maureen Kinney and Alison Meyer, beat three other teams to take the honors.

Two teams from Southern Vancouver Island will spend a week at the PNE. One will be from Saanich, the other from Cowichan-Cobble Hill area.

NANAIMO (CP)—Plans for a swimming pool which was to have been built in Bowen Park may have to be scrapped. The problem is that a new provincial government edict on winter works employment, the municipality will only qualify for provincial grants if welfare recipients are hired.

City collector Bob Rowledge said Thursday that skilled tradesmen, who will be needed to build the pool, are rarely found on welfare work.

THE ADDRESS OF AUTOMOTIVE LEADERSHIP IN VICTORIA

'Let Judges Settle Strikes'

Recent major strikes have added more urgency to the need for settlement of deadlocked labor disputes by judges in order to prevent anarchy, Victoria Chamber of Commerce president, E. E. Pearlman said Thursday night.

A lawyer and expert in labor relations, Mr. Pearlman made his plea in an address to the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club.

"Business and unions can now be so big and our economy so complex that a single dispute in an industry can cause immense economic loss and widespread public inconvenience," he said.

"Since the public good should take precedence over labor or management interests, then surely the dispute should be settled by a third party."

Time Has Come

Mr. Pearlman said he had first called for such measures five years ago but recent major strikes have demonstrated a growing need for impartial arbitration of industrial disputes because present trends "if permitted to continue unchecked might well result in a complete nega-tion of what we proudly describe as our 'democratic way of life'."

"Notwithstanding the hue and cry against compulsory arbitration or against interference by the courts, I say the time has now come for the establishment of a means of settlement of labor disputes without recourse to strikes and lockouts."

He said it was preposterous to contend that judges are incapable of dealing fairly with labor disputes when they "daily make decisions affecting not only money and property but life and liberty."

Mr. Pearlman said in today's context everyone loses in a strike and nothing is really settled by it so there is no point in sitting idly by and permitting "this senseless" situation.

"Is a labor dispute any different than any other contract dispute—basically I say it is not."

"And if the parties cannot settle it after reasonable effort to do so, I suggest that some competent authority—a judge, a labor court, an area arbitration board or other tribunal, call it what you will—be established to deal with it conclusively."

Mr. Pearlman put forward his court arbitration proposal after outlining historical development of labor-management relations. These are rapidly moving towards immense industry-wide tie-ups each time there is a dispute between one union local and one company, he warned.

"In my view, it is not too difficult to pinpoint the basic underlying reason for the failure of management and labor to work out a satisfactory formula for settlement of their differences. In my opinion, the real problem lies in the change of relationship."

Mr. Pearlman said not many decades ago there were no terms such as "labor relations" because work was based on a "master and servant" relationship and before 1872 workmen could not form trade unions because they were considered criminal conspiracies in restraint of trade.

Created Abuses

This situation created incredible abuses during the industrial revolution and society began giving legal advantages to unions—forcing employers to bargain collectively and even to let unions decide who would be hired and fired.

"To summarize, we must now realize that the old concept of master and servant is no more—and I most certainly approve that change in relationship."

"However . . . have we created a new master and a new servant? Have we reversed the positions which previously existed?"

"Is the former servant now the new master and is the new master about to practice the abuses which will parallel or exceed those of the former master?"

Pendulum Swings

"In other words, has the pendulum swung too far in the opposite direction?"

Mr. Pearlman said the growth of powerful trade unions, with national and international organizations, has resulted in "the average employer, be he in the construction, manufacturing or any other industry or business (becoming) completely vulnerable to domination by the union which happens to represent the employees."

He pointed out that trade unions have in many cases become bigger than business firms—quoting U.S. Department of Labor figures showing they now handle $1.25 billion annually.

More than 100 unions, many with Canadian branches, have incomes of more than $1 million a year and more than 25 unions gross more than $5 million annually.

Strike funds totalling millions of dollars and the picket line—which brings the force of all unions against an individual employer—have made unions stronger than most firms.

Tempted to Sell

"Is it any wonder that the small businessman is tempted to sell out to the giant corporations? Even the big corporations with their greater powers of resistance can be faced with a combination of resources superior to their own," he said.

"With the power now at their beck and call and particularly in times of prosperity, the temptation is to wield the big stick, to insist upon wages and conditions that the economy of a particular area or a particular industry cannot justify."

Mr. Pearlman said huge interlocking combinations of unions logically will produce counteraction by combinations of firms unless a new way is found to settle disputes without resort to brute strength.

Strikebreakers

He also said strikebreakers will be employed, and properly so, in self-defence by business firms.

"As I have frequently stated, I don't know of any law, legal or moral, that says an employer must not fight for his economic survival when a union uses the strike weapon."

Mr. Pearlman said labor trouble can't be legislated out of existence but B.C. labor laws must be changed to provide machinery for settling disputes.

"Can we here in British Columbia afford not to? Can we permit this economic dislocation and disruption to continue year after year?"

"I am the first to admit that the labor laws of B.C. are perhaps the fairest and most advanced of any in Canada but I do say there is room for improvement and it is time for that improvement now and here."

Impaired Driver Fails To Back Up Charges

A man who refused to "put up or shut up" about his accusations against Saanich police was convicted Thursday of impaired driving.

Magistrate William Ostler refused to accept a change of plea from Peter Nordin, 5045 Cordova Bay Road.

Nordin said Aug. 6 through lawyer Rodney Taylor that Saanich police had carried him unconscious from the scene of an accident to jail, then advised him he'd be better off to plead guilty to impaired driving.

CHARGE 'UNFOUNDED'

After testimony by three police sergeants and a constable, Magistrate Ostler ruled Nordin's charges were unfounded.

Thursday's hearing was on an application to have Nordin's plea changed to not guilty because, said Mr. Taylor, Nordin had concussion when he pleaded guilty and did not understand the plea.

"It is strange that the defendant should allege that he was so concussed he did not understand the plea, but could make allegations about police of events that must have taken place before he was arraigned," said Magistrate William Ostler.

At the start of Thursday's hearing, Mr. Taylor said his client could not identify any of the policemen involved.

SERIOUS CHARGES

"I feel shocked when Mr. Taylor says his client is not to give himself under oath to back up the very serious charges made last week," said prosecutor K. C. Murphy.

"I would like it noted that the accused has not put up and will not put up."

Mr. Murphy called Sgt. Frank Briers, Sgt. Robert Peterson, Sgt. Robert Coleman, and Const. Harry Coote to testify about Nordin's treatment after he was arrested.

All said Nordin had no apparent injuries after the accident.

NO EVIDENCE

"There is no evidence that the accused was carried away" (from the accident), said Magistrate Ostler.

"There is no evidence he was unconscious, no evidence he was concussed, no evidence he was advised it would be best to plead guilty, no evidence he didn't understand his plea."

"There is nothing to substantiate this man's suggestion. There is no criticism of the police officers . . ."

Nordin, who says he needs his licence for his job, will be sentenced Wednesday.

Municipalities Set Probe Of Public Transit Problem

By JOHN MIKA

Ten Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver civic leaders Thursday decided to roll with the punch instead of hitting back at the provincial cabinet.

The emergency meeting on the cabinet's refusal to even sit down with the municipal leaders to discuss a joint survey of public transit problems was held in Vancouver.

Civic co-chairmen Vancouver Mayor William Rathie and Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson announced at the end of the meeting that the municipalities will go it alone in commissioning a transit study by a Philadelphia firm at a cost of up to $58,000.

TRANSPORT PROBERS

The firm is Simpson and Curtin, widely-known transportation consultants.

It will prepare a brief for presentation to the Public Utilities Commission hearings.

on B.C. Hydro's application for doubled bus fares.

The brief will deal with the entire transit problem, not just the fare application, and will amount to one more appeal to the PUC to change its published position that it cannot act as a forum on general transit problems because it is restricted to fares by a cabinet order.

THREE CHOICES

Mayor Wilson said the cabinet's refusal to even discuss the transit problem faced the municipalities with choosing one of three courses—start a court battle to prohibit the PUC from continuing its hearings; give in completely; or go ahead with a transit study by an impartial firm without the government's co-operation.

He said legal action could be lengthy and expensive and might benefit no one, so it was only considered as a last resort.

It was out of the question to do nothing about the transit crisis so the meeting had to choose the unilateral study.

TALKS COLLAPSED

Although negotiations collapsed with B.C. Hydro for an interim increase provided a cabinet meeting was arranged, they were not broken off.

"We are open to suggestions and willing to do anything we can to come to some sort of a decent settlement on this issue," he said.

Now Question is Answered . . . Baseball is a Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Columbia Broadcasting System ended the question of whether baseball is a business or a sport today by purchasing the New York Yankees for an estimated $10 million.

The deal, which was two years in the making, immediately was assailed by two American League owners who openly wondered at the motivating reasons behind it.

While neither CBS nor Yankee officials were commenting on the transaction yet because of certain legalities still to be ironed out, it was learned reliably that the purchase was made primarily to give CBS a foot in the door for the television rights to baseball's projected new game-of-the-week on Monday nights.

As one baseball man put it: "It wouldn't surprise me in the least to see the National Broadcasting Company go out now and buy a ball club of its own."

Under terms of the sale, CBS purchased 80 per cent of the Yankees while the former owners, Dan Topping and Del Webb, retained 20 per cent. CBS also has an option to buy the remaining 20 per cent within the next five years.

American League president Joe Cronin said in Boston the sale had been approved by three-quarters of the 10 league club owners. The two who attacked the deal openly were Arthur Allyn of the Chicago White Sox and Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics.

Allyn was upset by "the high-handed manner in which it was conducted."

"It's a hell of a way to run a league," said the White Sox president. "I don't like to be called at 11:45 about something and be asked to approve it in three hours."

The sale enables Topping and Webb to more than double their original investment.

The two of them, along with Larry MacPhail, bought the Yankees in 1945 for $2.8 million, and two years later Topping and Webb bought out MacPhail's one-third share for $2 million.

Since then, the Yankees have won 14 pennants and 10 world championships, but even so, they've been having their troubles the past two seasons. Quietly and without fanfare, the Yankees have been trying to cut expenses and although they don't publicize the fact, they stand to lose money this year.

For the purchase price, CBS not only obtains the franchise, but also the Yankee players' contracts; the lease on Yankee Stadium; the concession contracts; the Yankees' minor league holdings and the existing radio and television contracts.

That's a pretty substantial promotion package right there, but CBS also has a much bigger stake. At the moment, CBS and NBC both televise a game of-the-week. Only 10 clubs are involved, with each network having five. CBS pays the Yankees $600,000 to televise 26 of their games but pays each of the other clubs only $10,000 per game.

Under a new proposal, there would be an additional game-of-the-day, or rather game of the night, and it would be awarded to one network every Monday night.

CBS has been working on a plan of its own in which it would form an independent network to televise the game of the week on both Saturday and Sunday.

In its all-out campaign to out-bid the National Broadcasting Company and the American Broadcasting system, CBS shelled out $28.2 million last winter for the right to televise National Football League games this year and next year, then paid another $1.8 million for the NFL championship game.

NBC televises the world series, placing it in the awkward position of possibly having to boost its biggest competitor in the event the Yankees win the American League pennant in the future.

But that's the way the ball bounces. CBS was even "scooped" on its own sale Thursday night.

At 6:11 p.m. (E.D.T.), CBS said it had been "reported" that the Yankees had been purchased by them.

Right at that moment, rival NBC was announcing flatly that the sale had been consummated.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Victoria Shamrocks, says coach Donald Ashbee, didn't lose the Inter-City Lacrosse League game they wanted so badly to win.

"It was taken away from us," he believes.

New Westminster won the big one, 9-7, to force Saturday's sudden-death playoff for second place. When they get that one out of the way, the teams will stay with each other for a best-of-five semifinal series scheduled to start Monday at the home of the second-place winner.

Next games: Saturday—Vancouver at Nanaimo, VICTORIA at New Westminster.

No one denies that there is bias in Ashbee's "we wuz robbed" refrain.

You have to pay heed, however, because that's precisely what New Westminster manager Jack Fulton thought after Thursday's game in which officiating bordered the ridiculous.

HEY, LISTEN!

"Victoria," said the outspoken Fulton, "was robbed."

"And you can quote me."

Fulton hastened to add that his team experienced "the same deal" Wednesday night in Victoria, when the Shamrocks came through with a 7-5 victory.

Fulton, oblivious to the I.C.L.L. rule that calls for a $100 fine from any executive who criticizes officiating, expressed disappointment with the work of referees Harry Wippen and Jack Northup on Thursday.

Fulton centred his attack on the penalties called against players who hit rivals on the head. It was that infringement that dominated Thursday's 73-minute penalty total.

'FAIR GAME'

The Westminster executive, rumored to be seeking the commissioner's post next season, feels "about a dozen calls" were not justified because victims ducked into checks.

"When a player ducks, there should be no penalty," said Fulton.

He got backing from his coach, Jack Byford, who said "any player who ducks should be fair game."

Victoria took 51 minutes, Westminster 22. Shamrock's total included a last-minute misconduct to Ashbee for raising some doubts about Wippen's ancestry.

The penalty calling was decidedly inconsistent. And there is no doubt that it wrecked Victoria's hopes of wrapping up second place.

LED AFTER THIRD

The Shamrocks, who trailed 2-0 at the start of the game, stepped into the fourth and final quarter on the long end of a 7-6 score.

"We had the game in control," said Ashbee. "The way my guys were going, we could have taken one or two penalties and rode 'em out. But we couldn't ride out all that Wippen handed us."

The referees tagged Victoria with nine minors and Ashbee's misconduct in the final 15 minutes. In that same span, New Westminster drew two minors, one of them on a double call.

GAMBLE FOR POSSESSION

Mike Gates, Cliff Sepka and Jack Barclay rapped in unanswered goals to pull Westminster through Barclay's goal, at the 14:54 mark, came when the Victoria team literally let him walk in and score.

"We had to gamble and get the ball," explained Ashbee.

Westminster scored five of its nine goals when holding the man advantage through penalties. Also, Gates scored his game-tying marker in the fourth on a delayed call and Bill Wilkes scored one earlier in the game just as Bill Munroe of Victoria stepped out of the box.

Two of Victoria's goals came off the odd-man play and the Rocks also counted twice, within 33 seconds, while playing short themselves.

LIONS MEET ROUGHIES

The Respect Is Mutual

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders meet British Columbia Lions here tonight in what could be the most exciting contest of the young Western Football Conference season.

Neither Lions coach Dave Skrien nor Roughies Bob Shaw could be accused of overconfidence prior to the game.

"Lions will be just as big and mean as ever," said Shaw at a pre-game press conference.

"This club gives us fits . . ."

And Skrien showed equal respect for Roughriders who have won both their season games so far against a record of one win and a tie for Lions.

"If the Roughriders decide to sweep, they sweep from one sideline to the other. Our job defensively is to keep the quarterback in the pocket so we at least know where the ball is coming from."

"Offensively against Saskatchewan we must be prepared to work very, very hard," Skrien said.

ADJUST OFFENSIVE

While the B.C. defensive line will be the same, preparation was made to adjust the offensive line when Lions placed import rookie halfback Lou Holland on waivers and reactivated offensive tackle Willie Taylor.

Taylor will be on hand in case all-star Lonnie Dennis cannot play. Dennis suffered a leg injury against Calgary but was taking treatment Thursday.

A win for the Roughriders would give them a three-point

VICTORIA JUVENILES AWARDED ISLAND TITLE

Victoria's Saanich Employees will represent Vancouver Island in the B.C. minor lacrosse finals at Nanaimo this weekend.

The B.C. Lacrosse Association upheld a Victoria protest Thursday and awarded the Island juvenile "A" championship to the Low Landess-coached Employees. Victoria based its protest of a 13-8 loss on the ineligibility of Nanaimo player Mike Wilkins. Victoria won the second game in the best-of-three Island final, 15-7.

Provincial playdowns in all minor divisions will start Saturday. All games will be played in Nanaimo.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, last year's Grey Cup winners and favorites to repeat this season, could find themselves alone on the bottom of the Eastern Football Conference heap after they meet Ottawa Rough Riders in the capital tonight.

And Toronto Argonauts or Montreal Alouettes could hold the undisputed lead after their meeting in Toronto Saturday night.

RUGGED DEFENCEMEN ASSIGNED TO VICTORIA

Leafs Get Howe, Shvetz

A pair of veteran defencemen are slated to be handling some of the bashing chores when the Victoria Maple Leafs head into the 1964-65 Western Hockey League schedule.

Marty Howe and Bill Shvetz, both regulars on last season's WHL champion Denver Invaders, have been assigned to Victoria by the parent Toronto Maple Leafs, Victoria manager Buck Houle announced Thursday.

The 27-year-old Howe played all 70 games last season, and accounted for a respectable total for a defenceman of 11 goals and 26 assists. He drew 74 minutes in penalties.

Shvetz, a wily veteran at 34, took to the ice in 61 games, and emerged with three goals and 38 assists. He was also awarded 108 minutes in the penalty box.

Both defencemen will join the Victoria training camp when it opens at Memorial

By Associated Press

Robin Roberts, sold by Philadelphia Phillies as over the hill and released by New York Yankees without a look, could be a key man in the future of each of those ball clubs.

The 37-year-old righthander scored his 10th victory of the year Thursday night, a four-hit effort over seven innings in a 7-1 triumph over Boston Red Sox that put his Baltimore Orioles in excellent shape for the crucial series with the Yankees starting tonight.

The victory increased Baltimore's American League lead to three full games; its biggest in a month, and at this stage of the season made a Baltimore-Philadelphia World Series increasingly likely.

CUBS SPILL IT

The Phillies, for whom Roberts won 230 games in 14 seasons, dropped a 3-1 decision to Chicago Cubs in the only National League game scheduled but were still 3½ games behind of the pack, a big lead at this stage of the season.

Minnesota Twins whipped Detroit Tigers 6-3 and the Yankees stayed within 3½ games of Baltimore with a 5-2 edge over second-place Chicago White Sox in the only other games on the major league schedule.

The Yanks beat Baltimore for three games, the final three of the season with the league leaders. The Orioles are anxious for the chance to provide the coup de grace.

Roberts set it up Thursday night. He was slated to a five-run lead in the first inning by Brooks Robinson's three run homer, a run-producing error by Carl Yastrzemski and Norm Siebern's run-scoring single.

Imperial meet Dormans at 6:30 tonight in the first game of their quarter-final at Central Park.

Arena Sept. 15. Other players who have been assigned to the Maple Leafs are forwards Larry Keenan and Ted Hargreaves, and all-star goalie Al Millar.

A third defenceman who may be with the Leafs is Toronto-owned amateur Bobby Taylor.

Taylor, better known as flanker-back for the Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference, played hockey with New Haven of the Eastern League last year and indicated he may be ready for faster company.

Taylor runs into difficulties with schedules, however, as his football commitments keep him busy at least until the middle of November.

The WHL schedule will be six weeks old by then.

ANOTHER SAD CHAPTER CHARGES ANGRY FINLEY

CHICAGO (UPI)—Charles O. Finley, irate about the handling of the New York Yankee sale to the Columbia Broadcasting System, completed the record Thursday night with an emphatic "No!"

Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, fired off a telegram to American League president Joe Cronin several hours after he was officially notified that the sale had been approved.

Cronin, in advising Finley of the sale, asked for the Kansas City vote "as soon as possible to complete the record."

"My vote is that this is another sad chapter in your non-administration as president of the American League and further evidence as to the reason why the National League is so far out in front of the American League," Finley said in the telegram.

"My vote and attitude are negative."

Finley and Arthur Allyn of the Chicago White Sox were the only two AL owners to vote against the sale. Both were advised that the sale had been approved before having a chance to vote.

City Tennis Aces Score Victories

OTTAWA—Theo Booker and Roger Skillings of Victoria will stay in their own age class from here on out in the Canadian closed tennis championships.

Both Miss Booker and Skillings won matches in their own division in the first day of play Thursday, but lost when they went against older opponents.

Miss Booker downed Linda Mitchell of Toronto 6-1, 6-2 in girls' under-16 competition, but lost in the girls' under-18 singles. Skillings followed the same route as he downed Montreal's Jim Ehlhoff 6-0, 6-0, in the boys' under-14 singles, but was eliminated from the under-16 class by John Comrie of Regina, 6-1, 6-1.

Vancouver's three top-seeds, Bob Bardsley, Bob Pudicombe, and Bob Moffatt, all won their under-18 singles matches in convincing fashion. Lindsay and Maureen Watts also had their way as they moved into the second round of the under-18 girls' singles with easy wins.

Clay, 22, a member of the Black Muslims, told a reporter the 24-year-old Chicago model for Tan magazine, known as Sonji Roi, also belongs to the Negro supremacist organization.

In a story in the Los Angeles Sentinel, sports editor Brad Pye Jr. said Clay, whose sect name is Muhammad Ali, "introduced a lovely chocolate-colored beauty as his wife" during an interview in his hotel room.

The story continued: "The champ said: 'Baby, tell Brad you're my wife.' 'She answered: 'Yes, we are married.'"

"Clay: 'Baby, tell him who's your leader.' 'Sonji: 'The honorable Elijah Muhammad.'"

"Clay: 'Baby, tell him who you are willing to die for.' 'Sonji: 'The honorable Elijah Muhammad.'"

VANCOUVER (CP) — South Vancouver Legion fought to a 10-7 win over New Westminster Salmonbellies Thursday night to even their best-of-three Inter-City Junior Lacrosse League semi-final series at one game apiece.

Leading scorer for Vancouver was scoring champion Gordie Frederickson with three goals and two assists. Ron Pepper scored three for the losing Salmonbellies.

The two clubs meet again Monday night in New Westminster for the deciding game. The winners meet Victoria Shamrocks for the right to advance to the Minto Cup finals to be played in Eastern Canada.

The Victoria team played well, serving strongly, and displaying fine teamwork. Don Lowe and Hughes now meet Bill Quillian and Jack Lowe of Seattle, the Northwest's outstanding doubles team, in one semifinal.

Don Lowe earlier in the day scored a great upset win over top-seeded Bill Quillian, 5-7, 7-5.

Munn Stroke Away With Two-Under 66

ALVIE THOMPSON

Moe Norman Sets Pace With 65 Despite Four Penalty Strokes

HALIFAX (CP)—Chasing a chubby but formidable will o' the wisp became the order of the day for a sizeable and hotly pressing contingent in today's second round of the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship.

The elusive phantom was Moe Norman of Toronto, who started Thursday's first round by tearing to shreds the Ashburn club's course and then just as swiftly sewing it together again in a weird display in the home stretch.

Moe nevertheless wound up with a 65, three under par, to stay in front of four pressure-minded golfers who shot 66s, including Victoria's Dick Munn. Four others were bunched at 67. The unpredictable Norman's game fell into a two - part analysis—superb and awful.

He all but dried out a rain-dampened front nine with a blistering 28, six under par. Then, in a complete reversal of form, he took four strokes in penalties in limping back in 37.

Only a stroke back at 66 to start today's second round were veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Alvie Thompson of Toronto, George Knudson of Toronto and Munn, the up-and-coming 22-year-old Vancouver Island ace.

At 67 were four golfers hitherto rated only a wild outside chance of taking the $2,000 top prize money in the $10,000 tournament. The four are veteran Damien Gauthier of Montreal, Bill Kozak of Niagara Falls, Ont., Jack Bisseger of Val Morin, Que., and Jim Walker of Moncton.

LARGE GROUP AT 65

The par-68 brigade was made up of 11 pursuers, and back at 69 was a six-man contingent that included defending champion Al Balding of Toronto.

Moe's first nine was a glittering affair of four birdies and an eagle, emphasized by his fine putting.

He was still six under par through the 14th and then disaster smote him. He took a two-stroke penalty at the par-four 15th, where his approach went over the green into water and bush, and he fired his second again. He wound up with a six.

He parred the 16th and got down a 40-foot birdie putt at the 17th.

The par-four 280-yard home hole was again his undoing. He drove boldly for the green but hooked his drive into woods. Playing off the tee again, with a two-stroke penalty, he tried as hard again and was short of the elevated green.

He flubbed his next shot, then chipped up and sank a six-footer for a six.

MUNN CONSISTENT

The long-hitting Munn played consistently with a pair of 33s. One of the day's late starters, he missed par only once and racked up two birdies on the front nine and then finished up with another at the 18th.

Stan Leonard put together a pair of 33s for his 66 despite weak wedge shots from near the green.

Alvie Thompson had a chance to catch up with Norman but missed birdie puts on at least three holes along the back nine.

George Knudson likewise had putting difficulties, getting down none of more than six feet.

Leading scorers: 65—Norman, Toronto; 66—Leonard, Vancouver; Thompson, Toronto; Munn, Victoria and Knudson, Toronto.

67—Walker, Moncton; Bisseger, Val Morin; Gauthier, Montreal; Kozak, Niagara Falls, Ont.

69—Crawford, Vancouver; Duggan, Toronto; Salding, Toronto; Kelly, Fredericton; Frouke, Montreal; Noble, Toronto.

TAKING HIS LEAVE

Suffering from chest cancer, Fred Hutchinson told press conference Thursday that he was obtaining a leave of absence as manager of Cincinnati Reds. Leave is for at least period of team's current road trip. National League club will be handled by coach Dick Sisler. (AP Wirephoto)

Independents Still Hoping

The only thing Transport Workers can do now is sit and wait.

And, maybe, hope . . . They may be the Senior Amateur Baseball League champions, or they may be forced into a sudden-death playoff for first place.

Workers' fate hinges on the outcome of Saturday's game between second-place Independents and McLarens at 1:30 at Royal Athletic Park.

A win by Independents would create a first-place tie with the Workers. An Independent loss would enable Workers to claim top place.

Workers have nothing to complain about, however. The difficulties they are having trying to hold the league lead are of their own making.

A win Thursday in their last regular scheduled game of the season would have sewed up their second straight title, and up until the final inning, it looked as if they might have it.

Workers led 1-0 going into the seventh inning, but came out on the short end of a 3-1 score to give Independents the win and a chance for the crown.

Jim Moody started off Independents' winning rally with a single, then Norm Curran drew a base on balls. Rick Blake sent in the tying and winning runs with a triple, and John Balloch later scored Blake with a single.

POWER, ASPRAY IN FINAL

Former Champs Upset in Semis

A sizzling sub-par performance by a Spokane doctor and a clutch, 20-foot putt on the final hole put out the "old" and brought in the "new" for today's Seniors Northwest Golf Association championship match.

Teeling off in the 18-hole final this morning were Dr. Mel Aspray of Spokane and Lew Power of Bellevue, Wash.

There was a contrast in victory styles Thursday as each put out a former champion. Dr. Aspray, touring the front nine with a brilliant three-under-par 30, bombed 1900 champion George Sparling of Victoria, 7 and 6. Power dropped a difficult 20-footer on the final green to upset defending champion Bill Blakely of Portland, one up.

SECOND ACE

Sharing the limelight Thursday was Nelson Perkins of Tacoma. He sank the second hole-in-one of this year's tournament, on the eighth, en route to a 4 and 2 "A" flight victory over Bob Stokes of Victoria.

H. R. Butler scored a hole-in-one on the ninth Tuesday. Blakely's hopes for a third straight championship ended when he hit a poor drive that landed behind trees on the 18th. Power, however, put his second into a trap to keep the issue in doubt.

Blakely chipped to within six feet of the cup with his fourth shot on the par-four closing hole. Power sent his chip shot, also his fourth blow, 20 feet past the cup. He dropped it on the return, however, while Blakely two-putted from the shorter distance.

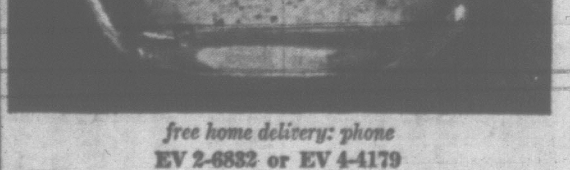

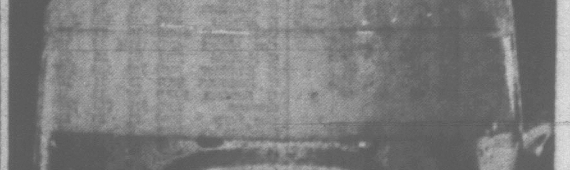

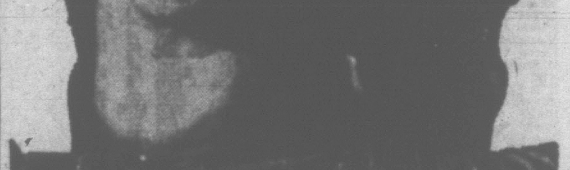

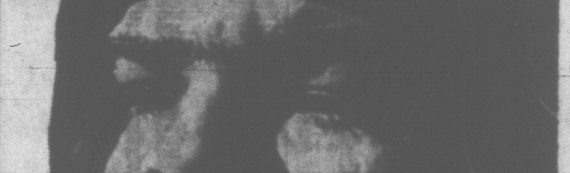

Semifinal results:

TV SLEUTHS FEVERISH, BUT:

Anyone Checked Edgeware Rd.?

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—Television authorities today are feverishly trying to track down the source of a "mystery" voice heard on TV Thursday night praising the delights of a London brothel.

The voice, heard loud and clear, intruded at the beginning of a brief public service film appealing for assistance in rehabilitating disabled people.

As the film opened two men were walking through a factory employing the handicapped, one man explaining to the other the efforts to find suitable employment for the disabled.

As his lips moved, the voice said: "I've discovered a most wonderful brothel in the Edgeware Road."

The lip movement and voice seemed to be almost co-ordinated as he continued:

"As you go in there's a great long bar and everything's free you can get what you like. Ham and chicken and roast duck."

"It's very good. When you go upstairs they don't chuck you out after 15 minutes."

Then the mystery voice disappeared and the film's actual sound track cut in. After the announcer said: "We apologize for the extraneous dialogue, which was due to crossed lines."

Today a spokesman for Rediffusion, the company that operates commercial television in the London area during weekdays, said a thorough investigation was being made into the interruption.

The Rediffusion spokesman said it was not known yet whether the voice originated somewhere within the building or was picked up from outside. The general post office, which operates TV transmission lines as well as Britain's telephone service, was investigating the possibility that a telephone line had got connected to a TV cable.

Surprisingly enough, London newspapers made little or no mention of the incident. And the TV spokesman said there were only a few telephone calls although they usually received a flood of complaints after even a minor interruption.

Five Hospitals Join In New Metro Board

Greater Victoria hospitals Thursday chose Sister Superior Mary Ann Celesta of St. Joseph's as chairman of a new metro hospital council.

The council will be separate from the joint services board proposed for municipalities by the government, but it is part of the general swing toward unification in the area.

At the meeting were top officials from Royal Jubilee, St. Joseph's, Veterans' and Rest Queen Alexandra Solarium. George Masters, administrator of Jubilee, was named vice chairman of the council and John S. Holdstock, of the solarium, secretary-treasurer.

Maclean's Magazine Names New Editors

TORONTO (CP)—Five appointments were announced Thursday by Maclean's magazine to fill vacancies created by resignations last month.

Five staff members resigned July 31 over a dispute with the Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company, which publishes the magazine. Borden Spears, former managing editor of the Toronto Star, was appointed executive editor last week to replace editor Ken Lefolli.

Mr. Lefolli had resigned along with the other five, who claimed management was infringing on the independence of the editorial department.

Appointments announced Thursday included Hal Tenant as staff writer, Keith Knowlton as copy desk editor, Ian Scandlers and Eric Hutton as senior editors and Alexander Ross as reports and reviews editor.

Mr. Knowlton was formerly managing editor of Chatelaine magazine, another Maclean-Hunter publication, and Mr. Scandlers was formerly stationed in Washington with Maclean's magazine.

In addition to Mr. Lefolli, the other five staff members who resigned July 31 were Peter Gzowski, managing editor; Harry Bruce, reports and reviews editor; David Lewis Stein, assistant editor, and staff writer Robert Fulford. A sixth staff writer, Barbara Moon, resigned last week.

"We are re-shaping the organization," Mr. Spears said in commenting on the new appointments Thursday. "This is a very long-time thing. We are looking ahead five or 10 years."

Canadians In Top 10

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Canadian banks are among the 10 largest in the free world according to figures released by the Royal Bank of Canada today.

The Royal Bank ranked eighth in size of deposits while the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce was ninth.

The Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, San Francisco, had the largest total of deposits—$13,242,506,000 at the end of 1963. It was followed by the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York; First National City Bank, New York; and Barclays Bank Ltd., London.

The Royal Bank was eighth with $4,686,330,000; Canadian Imperial, ninth with $4,529,904,000; Bank of Montreal, 17th with $3,709,920,000; Toronto-Dominion, 44th with $2,109,450,000; and Bank of Nova Scotia, 47th with $2,037,221,000.

MANITOBA SESSION

New Tax Plans To Be Revealed

By JIM NEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Whether Premier Duff Roblin intends to impose a provincial sales tax to meet rising costs is expected to be revealed during the third session of the 27th Manitoba legislature which opens Monday.

He called the unusual summer session to "consider government proposals" on the recommendations made by the royal commission on local government and finance.

Headed by former Commons Speaker Roland Michener, the commission suggested the province take more financial responsibility in the fields of education, health and welfare and relieve the burden on real property owners. It recommended a sales tax as one means of raising the additional $14,000,000 estimated revenue required to implement the suggestions.

The premier said earlier he would not impose a sales tax—only Manitoba and Alberta now are free of such a tax—to pay for the additional services if he cannot pass on the saving to ratepayers.

But in meetings with the cabinet to discuss the Michener report, municipal and school trustee officials said they would not contemplate any control on their budgets and would not promise any sure method of holding the tax line at the local level.

The premier has also indicated he would prefer not to make a sales tax decision until the report of the Carter commission is made to the federal government.

CALLS FOR CHANGE

In his capacity as provincial treasurer, Mr. Roblin has made a private informal submission to the Carter commission calling for a constitutional change which would allow the provinces to impose the turnover method of indirect taxation.

This is a tax on the sales of business, part of its total turnover. Thus, the tax money is included in the price a consumer pays a retailer rather than added to it, as is the case with a retail sales tax.

Presenting his 1964-65 budget last February, Mr. Roblin forecast a surplus of $158,815 on revenues of $151,761,000 and hinted Manitobans could be faced with additional taxation before the fiscal year ends March 31, 1965. He cited in particular increasing costs of the hospital services plan.

With mounting opposition to the prospect of a sales tax, speculation has increased that Mr. Roblin will impose additional taxes on existing sources of revenue—gasoline, liquor, royalties and licences.

All the opposition parties oppose the sales tax proposal.

Standings in the 57-member house are Conservatives 36, Liberals 13, NDP seven and Social Credit one.

By JIM BIGSBY

No matter what you think of the Jamaica Ska when you first see it danced, you'll agree it has at least one good point.

It's supposed to replace the twist. At least that's the hope of Arthur Murray and the Jamaican government who jointly exported the ska from its Kingston birthplace.

The ska has certain advantages over the twist which become obvious upon watching two skaers, or whatever they call themselves. For one thing, skaers are not likely to be arrested.

Unlike the twist, the ska has no movements which would outrage puritans. Another advantage is that skaers will not be carted off on a stretcher to be untied and straightened out by a team of boy scouts and chiropractors. The ska has no unnatural contortions. And for the out-of-shape the ska offers far more relaxation and far fewer cramps than the twist.

You're sold on the ska? Fine. Let's give it a try. Stand facing your partner, but not touching her. (They haven't eliminated all the faults of the twist.)

Straighten up and repeat the process to the right, so that you're curtsying right and left and so on.

Now add the basic arm motions.

As you step to the left, fling both arms out sideways. As you touch your right toe behind the left foot, with bent knees, cross both arms in front.

All varieties of arm movement can be improvised. Many ska arm movements have been borrowed from other recent dances such as the surfer, hitchhiker, dog, and others.

The other foot movement is the progressive walk, which is done by stepping forward on one foot and bending the appropriate knee, at the same time kicking out your other foot behind you.

The object of the progressive walk is to feel like a jerky puppet but not to feel like a jerk.

Special ska music is being recorded, but no records are available here yet. Until such time as Victorians are blown ska-high by the Latin beat from Kingston, a slow twist record can be used by novice skaers.

We've saved the best until now. You actually do get to touch your partner during one step.

Ready? Standing about four feet away from him (or her), both lean forward until your foreheads are touching, then pivot around in what's called the Roll.

Touching foreheads. Tsk tsk. Next thing you know this younger generation will be dancing hand in hand and arm on shoulder.

THEY EVEN TOUCH HEADS during The Roll, the most energetic and intimate step of the new dance crazy (sic), the Jamaican Ska, here being

inexpertly done on the roof of the Victoria Press by reporter Jim Bigsby and Linda McClung. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1964—PAGE 17

Arthur Mayse

One day in our first Victoria April, Win and I looked around from our border-grubbing to find that a wide, thick brown man had materialized behind us as if sprung from Gordon Head's good earth. His wiry black hair was peppered with grey. He wore work boots, khaki pants scrubbed thin at the knees, and an ancient bush jacket of vaguely military cut.

We recognized him as the Chinese gardener who planted, pruned and weeded two days a week for Mrs. Mac, our neighbor on the other side of the masking greenery.

His name, we knew, was Foon.

"Lots of work," he said.

"This was fast learning.

Our previous garden experience had been confined to a handkerchief-sized city plot that required but a lick and a promise to keep them tidy. Nor were we prepared for the incredible growth-surge of a South Island spring.

The notion struck us both: here, perhaps, was the key to our dilemma, the angel unaware.

We showed Foon around the property, or rather he led us with masterful assurance from rose plot to rockery to the sheltered house-corner where we were informed a peach tree would thrive. When the tour ended, we consulted with a quick glance. Then Win asked Foon if he had a free day.

He deliberated. At length his broad and weather-beaten face crinkled in a smile warm as the sunlight.

"I come Monday," he announced. "You get blood-and-bone fertilizer, maybe 15 flower pots. Big ones." The smile became a grin. "I grow you chrysanthemums for Christmas."

Foon came on Monday. He wore a pith helmet. Slung about him were two separate, bulging haversacks, the entire contents of which we never did learn.

Ron, Susan and our black lab, Paddy, met him on the driveway. Foon halted, and reached into pockets which also bulged.

Gravely, in a ritual which was to continue unaltered each Monday for years, he produced from one pocket English toffee in gay wrappers, and from the other, dog biscuits.

In our kitchen, he unbuckled one of his knapsacks and brought out a gift of iris bulbs, which he presented to us with a small flourish, as if offering a treat to other children.

Then, still with the same leasured dignity, Foon paced off to take over our garden.

Foon took us over, too. Like many artists, he was bossy, opinionated and temperamental. No crisis, not even word that visitors were to descend on us from distant points, would speed his deliberate progress along a border.

Our prized Peace rose disappeared. Foon was not to be trifled with.

minished cutting by cutting as it was exchanged for roots, plants and slips from other gardens where Foon had a day.

But over coffee and a rolled cigarette, he would enchant us with tales of his youth in the China where his wife and sons still dwell.

We learned of the spotted snake (portrayed with appropriate writhings and hissings) that almost bit him as he fished in a canal. He told us about the old women of Macao, merry on their verandas of a blue evening while they magicked firecrackers from coarse paper and a pinch of gunpowder.

And faithfully each Christmas, Foon turned our porch into a glory of red, bronze, white and yellow chrysanthemums. Much—I suppose too much—of his time between April and December went into nurturing and fussing over his pets.

But when we gazed on those florid pompons, each perfect, each the size of my two fists, we shared Foon's pride and pleasure in this his masterpiece.

In a year when income lagged behind outgo, we could no longer afford Foon's Monday.

Foon found another garden. He continued to visit us. His hair turned altogether grey, and when he stopped by last Christmas, he had been for several years an old-age pensioner.

One day this spring, he came when we were out. We found his worn mackintosh and clippers stowed behind a juniper that grows close against our house. Foon would call for them presently, we supposed, and linger for coffee as he used to.

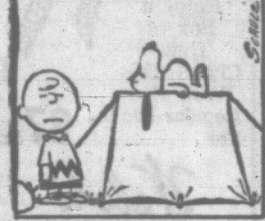

But he didn't. Foon, one of the vanishing clan of wise, gentle, crotchety, infinitely loyal Chinese gardeners who have helped shape Victoria's floral loveliness, never stopped by again.

Win and I went to his funeral on Thursday afternoon. For a while we were alone in the sunny chapel, but as the Rev. Howard Ha commented the simple service, an elderly man with the grained look of a gardener slipped in from the street.

Among the flowers on the casket were two big yellow chrysanthemums, the sort Foon grew for his friends. I think he would have approved them.

FOULIS APPEALS RULING

A man accused of fraud involving almost a quarter-million dollars is attempting to have the Supreme Court quash the charges.

Robert Foulis of Salt Spring Island was charged as a result of a scheme involving the buying and reselling of liquor.

His lawyer, A. M. Manson of Vancouver, earlier made several complicated legal motions to have the charges against his client quashed, but the motions were denied by Magistrate William Ostler.

This morning in city magistrate's court, Mr. Manson said he intends to ask a Supreme Court judge to review Magistrate Ostler's rulings on the motions.

The hearing in the higher court is set for Sept. 3. If the judge backs up Magistrate Ostler then Foulis will appear in magistrate's court Sept. 11 to plead to the charges and elect trial.

3-Month Term

Kenneth Robertson, 2753 Martindale, was sentenced in Saanich police court to three months in jail Thursday for driving while under suspension.

WHITE-HAIRED WOMAN FINED $300 AS BOOKIE

A white-haired woman dressed in black except for a big white flower admitted in court this morning that she is a bookie.

Mrs. Doreen Bradbury, 1221 Richardson, was fined $300 for keeping a betting house.

Sergeant Ron Bentley said he and other policemen raided Mrs. Bradbury's home Saturday afternoon and found racing forms and other bookmaking paraphernalia in the kitchen.

Mrs. Bradbury admitted the offence, he said.

ARROWS SHOT INTO AIR

City Butt for New Sport

Robin Hood would lean on his bow and quiver at the thought of automatic indoor archery ranges soon to be set up in Victoria—and other Canadian cities.

Two rival companies today announced plans to build indoor ranges, with automatic butts, where archers can practise their favorite sport come wind or rain.

Neither company has yet decided where the Victoria ranges will be located, but both said they would do so within a few days.

FISH-BUTTON

With electrically-operated targets, archers will only have to press a button for the targets to be returned to them, so they can retrieve their arrows.

Canamatic Archery Ltd. of

Ladysmith announced that it expects to have an eight-lane indoor archery range operating in Victoria by October.

Victoria businessman Norman Loomer announced that his company, now being incorporated, will have an indoor range in Victoria "within a month or two."

Meanwhile, on Oct. 1, his company will open a 20-lane range on Seymour Street, Vancouver.

GROWTH RAPID

Both companies stated independently that indoor archery has grown rapidly in the United States in recent years and they expect it will spread from Victoria and Vancouver to other Canadian cities.

Mr. Loomer said his company will establish a manufacturing plant—possibly in Victoria—for the production of archery lanes with fiberglass partitions; bows of all sizes for men, women and children; fiberglass arrows, full-size targets and the machinery required to return the targets to the archers.

"We shall also provide work for instructors, attendants, salesmen, electricians and carpenters," he said.

HOLDS FRANCHISE

Mr. Loomer has just returned from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, where he inspected the Ben Pearson Archery Company's plant.

He has an exclusive franchise for the manufacture of this equipment in Canada.

Mr. Loomer is recommending the installation of indoor archery ranges in bowling alleys.

"I believe indoor archery can go hand-in-hand with bowling," he said, "and I hope B.C. bowling alleys will recognize the opportunity for re-energizing their business."

The Canamatic Archery Company of Ladysmith announced that when its $40,000 indoor archery range opens in Victoria in October it will be "the first in Canada."

Salmon Derby

A salmon derby sponsored by Sidney Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in aid of the Sidney symphony concert series will be held Sunday from day-break until 2 p.m.

Anglers can get derby tickets at most Sidney boathouses, but it is not necessary to catch a fish to reel in a prize.

Call for Tenders Due in October On Federal Block

Tenders will be called in October for a new federal government office building in Victoria, Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill said today.

The $1 million building will be at Pandora and Vancouver on property formerly owned by the city.

The three-storey building, featuring pre-cast concrete panels, will house three federal departments.

The income tax division will move out of the Belmont Building on Government Street.

The National Employment Service and Unemployment Insurance Commission will vacate their present quarters at 1039 Johnson. They will have separate offices in the new building in line with a change in government policy.

The new building will contain about 45,000 square feet.

It will have parking facilities for 50 to 75 cars and extensive landscaping.

It has been designed by architects Wade, Stockill and Armour.

Plans are "well on now," an official of the federal public works department said.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is hoped that construction will begin in January.

The site has already been cleared.

Mr. Pickersgill, here to open Victoria's new airport terminal tonight at 8, said Ottawa is still undecided about the site for a big marine service depot to be built on the waterfront.

PROPERTY KEY

It will either be in Victoria's Inner Harbor or in Esquimalt harbor, he said.

"We are still trying to work out the problem of getting the necessary property."

Discussions are under way between federal officials and property owners at both sites, he added.

Mr. Pickersgill also said that a proposed federal institute of oceanography will be built alongside the marine depot.

It had previously been thought the institute would be located at the University of Victoria, but Ottawa decided it would be better to have easy access to dock facilities.

"Our plan is to put them together as a single project," Mr. Pickersgill said.

The transport minister said he had no comment on B.C. government pleas for more federal subsidies to ferries on the west coast.

Laing Studies Craighower Restoration

Federal Resources Minister Arthur Laing is here to investigate a plan to restore Craighower manor as an historic site.

The federal and provincial governments opened negotiations in June for a cost-sharing agreement on the project.

Mr. Laing is to visit the 110-year-old farm house Saturday morning.

Going with him are Victoria MP Groos and Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, representing the provincial government.

Both governments are anxious to purchase the historic building before it becomes hemmed in by commercial development.

It would be restored to its former glory and opened to the public.

The manor, at Craighower Road and Admirals, was built as a farm for the Puget Sound Agricultural Company, a subsidiary of the Hudson's Bay Co.

It was operated by Kenneth MacKenzie, a Scot, who came to Victoria aboard the ship Norman Morison.

It is the oldest surviving farm in the area and was the centre of an early Fort Victoria settlement.

Ask The Times

Q. When did the Red Ensign become the flag of Canada? How and by whom was it decided to be so?

A. Canada has a legal and widely-recognized flag abroad but no finally accepted flag for use at home. An order-in-council dated Sept. 5, 1947, says it is appropriate to fly the Red Ensign when it is desired to mark a Canadian significance.

This flag had a legal recognition abroad since 1924 when Parliament enacted a law that provided for the flying of this flag over any Canadian building abroad.

The Red Ensign became a Canadian flag in 1959 when it was flown by the mercantile marine.

TOPICS of the DAY

"A and B" groups of the Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History will meet Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Francis Park to take part in a tree survey project.

The Nature House will be open during the week from 10 a.m. till 5 p.m.

A 21-year-old man who stole a pair of men's trousers from a car tried to sell them for $2 in a downtown beer parlor, city court was told this morning.

Gary Joseph, of East Saanich Reserve, pleaded guilty to the theft. He was remanded to Aug. 21 for sentence.

Constable Gordon Bennett said Joseph took the trousers from a car in the 500-block Cormorant early on the afternoon of Aug. 6.

Cons. Bennett said that when he checked a beer parlor about one hour later Joseph tried to walk out leaving the trousers on his chair. The accused was drunk, the officer said.

Victoria's new airport terminal at Patricia Bay will be officially opened tonight at 8 by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Speakers will include Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor R. B. Wilson of Victoria.

An exhibition of handweaving created by children between the ages of seven and 16 at the summer classes in the Victoria Art Gallery will open Sunday, and continue through to Aug. 23. Children will demonstrate weaving techniques on both Sundays between 2 and 5 p.m. Classes have been held under the instruction of Miss Florence Daniels.

Sailors of Pacific Command will perform a sunset ceremony Tuesday at 8 p.m. in front of the Legislative Buildings.

The 25-minute ceremony will be performed by the 48-member HMCS Naden band under the direction of Lieut. Tudor Jones supplemented by a 48-man guard and a 32-man gun crew under Lieut. Jack Rafter.

The same group will be in Vancouver from Aug. 22 to Sept. 7 to perform sunset ceremonies at the Pacific National Exhibition nightly except Sundays.

Vote on Semi-Metro 'Unnecessary' Now

A yes-no plebiscite on amalgamation of Greater Victoria services is unnecessary at this time, Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said today.

He was commenting on a statement by J. L. Phelps, a candidate in Langford for the study group which will try to work out plans for a joint services board.

Mr. Phelps said the people affected should be given a chance to vote on the scheme, rather than only electing spokesmen to the study group.

Mr. Campbell replied that any suggestion of a vote is premature. He appeared cool to the idea at any time, though he did not entirely rule out the possibility.

He said his undertaking is to work out the scheme with elected representatives.

They are supposed to be the voice of the residents of the areas involved, he said.

EVEN HER BEST FRIENDS CAN'T SPOT HER

Fifi Lacks the Scents to Get Herself Found

By TERRY IZZARD
Whatever happened to Fifi? Did some mean skunk steal her? Or did she finally get a whiff of the wild outdoors?

Either way, Fifi is gone.

Tall erect, nose to the ground, she quietly slipped away from home one day last week.

Unfortunately her best hope of being found is gone for ever.

For Fifi is a skunk without a stink.

The pet of Pat and Nancy McLoughlin, 1180 Rock Street, she lost the ability to give off an odor as a baby.

Now two years old, she is so tame her owners don't think she will be able to live long out on her own.

All seven pounds of the black and white fluffy ball slipped out of the front door while nobody was looking. Scared of traffic and strangers, she probably slipped into nearby Playfair Park to hide under bushes.

Chances of her being found by day are pretty slim, as Fifi, product of a Vancouver pet shop, is nocturnal (she sleeps all day).

So every evening Pat and Nancy tour the area, searching under bushes and asking neighbors if they have seen the family pet.

Sometimes Pat, an insurance agent, takes another scout round before leaving for work.

And every night the back door of the McLoughlins home is left ajar on the chain so that if the wanderer returns she will not be locked out.

Only lead so far has been a phone call at Mr. McLoughlin's office.

A man said he had the skunk at his home and then hung up.

The address he gave turned out to be false.

Now the McLoughlins are asking themselves:

Did the skunk do a detour? Or is it all the work of another skunk?

SKUNKED ... who nose where Fifi goes?

DEAR ABBY...

He's Certainly Thoughtless!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son never was very good about writing, so when he went into the service we didn't expect too much in the way of mail from him. After we didn't get one line from him in over six months we got in touch with the American Red Cross, and they sent word to us that our son had been discharged three months ago. Isn't the army supposed to send a boy home after he's been discharged? I am sure they are. So why didn't they send ours home? We are worried.

A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: When a serviceman is discharged his transportation home is paid, but nobody "takes" him there. The Army is not responsible for a man once he is discharged.

Don't worry. A son who doesn't write home once in six months is probably in good health somewhere, enjoying himself. He'll turn up.

DEAR ABBY: Should the man who CATCHES the fish have to clean them before bringing them home or should his wife clean them?

LOVES TO FISH
DEAR LOVES: If the man fishes for sport, he should be a good sport and clean them himself. But no fisherman will clean fish if he's caught a sucker.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and her fiancé made an appointment to have a talk with our clergyman about plans for their forthcoming marriage. When they came back, they were both disgusted. The first thing the clergyman asked my daughter was, "Are you pregnant?" She most certainly was not, but even if she had been, I don't think it would have been any of his business. I thought clergymen were supposed to discuss the teachings of the Bible, and the proper execution of the sacraments. If this is something new, maybe we should have doctors of medicine in the pulpit. I would like your comments.

ALSO DISGUSTED

DEAR ALSO: Clergymen are people even as you and I. There are some bad apples in the liturgical barrel just as there are in other barrels, so don't judge all clergymen by yours. He should be reported to his immediate superior.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WALLY IN HUNTSVILLE: You place too much emphasis on money. "Money never made a man happy yet, nor will it. There is nothing in its nature to produce happiness. The more a man has, the more he wants. Instead of its filling a vacuum, it makes one."

Dear Eunice:

I have tried buying millinery-type glue as you suggested for covering the shoes with fabric and no one seems to know just what I mean. Perhaps other readers are having the same problem. Can you tell us where this is available?

Mrs. K. B. H.

Dear Mrs. K. B. H.:

Sorry, I keep forgetting that unless you live in a large city some of these items might not be available. You may use any of the milky household glues. Before you begin working with your shoes, may I suggest you try the glue on your fabric to be sure it doesn't spot.

Another reader sent in a good idea about covering shoes. She says, instead of using a lining fabric, if you are using very sheer fabric, simply paint the shoes with the new shoe paint first, any color you desire, and it's much easier. She also says that she uses a waterproof spray after she is finished and the fabric stays like new.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Brows, Teeth, Figure
Problems Are Answered

Q. What is meant by the "natural line of the brow?" I do not know exactly what this means.

A. This is along the edge of the bone at the top of the eye socket. Nature usually knows best. However, as a general rule, the brows should not deviate too drastically from the natural line if they are to be most flattering.

Q. Is it possible for the teeth to affect the shape of the face, especially the size and shape of the jaw? I have been told that this is true but I cannot believe it. I have a sharp jutted jaw and protruding teeth. If I can be helped, what sort of dentist should I see? I am 14. Am I too young or too old to be helped?

A. The jaw can be affected by the teeth. You should see an orthodontist. They do wonderful things today. The younger the better, but I am sure you are not too old for corrective treatment.

Q. I am so unhappy that I can hardly sleep at night. I ask my mother about my problem but she just laughs at me. I am 12 years old and have absolutely no bust. I guess I never will be an attractive woman! All my friends, well most of them, have busts.

A. Sleep well tonight because you have absolutely no cause for worry. Young girls vary greatly as to the age at which they develop curves. Twelve is not too late. Most girls develop later than that.

Q. I have trouble with the ends of my hair because they split. A friend has told me that cutting the ends will cure this condition permanently. Is this true?

A. Cutting will remove the split ends but it cannot affect the condition of the hair and is not a permanent cure. Be sure that you are eating correctly for best nutrition. Your hair may be very dry because of frequent permanents or coloring. Try some hot oil treatments and use one of the cream shampoos. Also use one of the creams designed for dry, split hair. You can apply this to the ends each day. It will make them more manageable.

Q. What do movie stars have done to their teeth when they are unattractive in shade or are poorly spaced?

A. They have them capped.

The Bard Ignored By His 'Townies'

By PAT DUFOUR

English people who are the least interested in the works of William Shakespeare are those who live in his birthplace, Stratford-on-Avon.

This is the opinion of Miss Susan Vallance, who is in Victoria to teach children's theatre and creative dramatics at the University of Victoria's summer school.

She should know. She's lived at Stratford-on-Avon since 1959, coaching dramatics and adjudicating at the famed theatrical school.

She reports: "If it wasn't for the tourists and Shakespeare, Stratford-on-Avon would just be a small market town. The real yokels are not interested in either!"

But whether the townspeople are interested or not, the tempo is set by the theatre.

Shakespeare is played from April until Boxing Day. From then until mid-March, the program includes a program of touring shows, ballets and other fare.

Says Miss Vallance exultantly, "We have only three weeks without theatre—marvellous!"

It is due to a chance meeting in the English town that Miss Vallance is now in Victoria.

"Michael Warren of the University of Victoria's English department visited there last summer and it was through him that I was lucky enough to be able to teach here this year."

Another Canadian is responsible for the job to which Miss Vallance is looking forward this fall.

"Dr. John Ripley of Dalhousie University completed his Ph.D. at Stratford-on-Avon. He has now returned to Dalhousie and has asked me to coach at the drama workshop he'll be setting up in September."

How does one become a drama coach?

Miss Vallance, who is now 29, began working toward this end when she "was nine or 10."

Born and brought up in Mansfield, Nottinghamshire, she was sent away to boarding school at that age and determined to take drama as an extra subject.

Results were so gratifying that her solicitor father and mother were persuaded to let her complete her dramatic training with a three-year course at the Central School of Speech and Drama in London. Miss Vallance has been teaching for the past nine years and "wouldn't have it any other way."

In a well-modulated voice she explains why she's never been tempted to "tread the boards" herself.

"It's much more satisfying to be able to draw talent out of other people."

Thoroughly enjoying her first trip to Canada, Miss Vallance will make a side-trip to Ontario's Stratford-on-Avon before heading for Nova Scotia this fall.

Next summer, she's off to Greece in order to study Greek drama.

"I was there last summer and it was absolute agony trying to see everything, dashing from place to place in the short time I had."

On her return trip, Miss Vallance intends to "take in" the festivals which are held on the sites of the old theatres by the two national companies.

But she'll still have a deadline.

BIRTHDAY SATURDAY

Young Princess Emerges As a Potential Beauty

LONDON (AP)—Princess Anne, 14 Saturday, has emerged as a potential beauty.

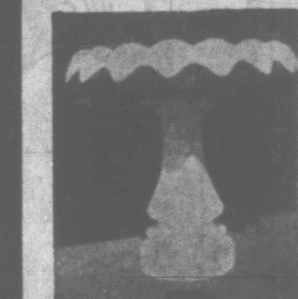

Once a toothy tomboy, the blonde princess clearly is past the ugly duckling stage. Every day she gets more like her mother, Queen Elizabeth.

Anne's biggest pre-birthday thrill was to star as the only girl in the 17-man crew of Prince Philip's yacht Bloodhound.

Anne also shares her mother's interest in horses and is a fearless rider. She already has figured in the show jumping prize lists.

As fourth in line to the British throne, Anne already has performed the occasional public function which will be her regular lot once school is over.

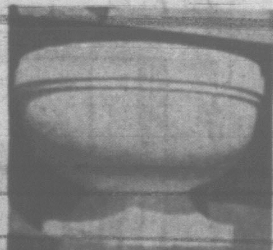

Basically she's a country girl, with a flair for hunting and fishing. Westerns are her favorite TV programs.

Heirloom Locket Worn by Bride

A gold locket that had belonged to her paternal great-grandmother was "something old" for Brenda Mae Allen when she exchanged vows with Robert Douglas Worobey in St. Andrew's Cathedral Saturday evening.

Her ballerina-length gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta was enhanced with lace appliques on the front of the gently flaring skirt. Seed pearls and sequins trimmed the lace-scalloped neckline. Scallops also edged the hemline. The four-tier nylon net veil misted to shoulder length from a coronet of seed pearls in lily-of-the-valley motif, centred with a single white tulle rose. Her bouquet was red roses and stephanotis.

Fr. M. Costelloe officiated at the ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Allen, 868 Parklands Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Worobey, North Surrey, B.C. Mr. Allen gave his daughter in marriage.

White and red gladioli decorated the cathedral and pews were marked with white ribbons and gladioli. Organist was Miss Marguerite McKay, and the soloist Miss Leona Henley.

Gowns of whipped cream nylon tulle over taffeta in aqua, yellow and pale pink, respectively, were worn by matron of honor Mrs. P. Evernden, bridesmaid Miss Janet Ker and junior bridesmaid Miss Penny Miller, White Rock, B.C., the bride's cousin.

Net trimmed their toning flower whinnies. They carried white carnations, tinted at the centres to match their gowns. All had single pearl drop necklets, gift of the bride.

Robert Simmons, North Surrey, was best man, and ushering guests were Stewart Conarroe and Dennis Allen, the bride's brother.

At a reception in the Dockyard Recreation Hall the couple received guests beneath an archway of ivy and roses. Robert E. Sillocks proposed the toast.

Pink and white rosettes sprigged the pink tulle which surrounded the three-tier wedding cake. White candles in silver candelabra and silver rose bowls of pink roses completed decor. Table was laid with a lace cloth, crocheted by the bride's maternal grandmother.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to the Okanagan, Banff and Calgary, the bride wore a pink wool suit and hat, white accessories and deep pink carnation corsage.

Newlyweds will make their home at Carmella Court, 805 Cook Street.

First Press Bursary

Announcement was made this week by Mildred Kurtz, Parksville, president of Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club, that Miss Carol Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Dyer, 5287 Parker Avenue, Victoria, has been awarded the first annual $100 bursary of the branch.

Bursary is open to high school graduates who are interested in making journalism a career.

The 17-year-old student graduated from Claremont Senior Secondary School this year and plans to enter the University of Victoria in September to work for her degree in English and art.

A top student, Miss Dyer was also active in extra-curricular activities, using her artistic talents for dramatic presentations, school parties and musical evenings. She also wrote for school publications and was school correspondent for the Saanich Star.

Miss Dyer received two awards for citizenship and a book award in grade 10 for "most outstanding girl."

Applications for the new bursary were received from Victoria, Port Alberni, Nanaimo

Miss Dyer, the first winner, and Salt Spring Island.

Chairman of the bursary committee was Elizabeth Forbes, Times women's editor. Also on the committee were Margaret Trebett, Port Alberni; Agnes Flett, Nanaimo; Bea Hamilton, Fulford Harbor and Pat Dufour, Victoria Daily Times.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammett Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Ronald Robinson, 12, Ottawa, Ont., for his question:

Do They Know How the Asteroids Were Formed?
They may be called asteroids, meaning little stars, or planets, meaning little planets. Actually, they are the junior planets of the solar system. When we say that the sun has a family of nine planets, we are not counting these thousands and thousands of junior planets.

The nine planets, of course, orbit the sun on tracks one outside another, and the outer track of Pluto marks the edge of the solar system. An odd gap appears when we study the distances between these concentric orbits. The path of Mercury averages 36 million miles from the sun, and the path of Venus is some 31 million miles farther from the sun. The average distance between the orbits of

Asteroids Still a Mystery

The mystery of these small heavenly bodies began in 1801 when the first one was discovered by telescope. It is still a mystery, for no one can say for sure how they were formed. In cases of this sort, the experts come up with educated guesses called theories. There are at least three theories which suggest how the asteroids might just have been born.

One of these theories depends upon another theory which suggests that the planets themselves gelled from little fragments of solid materials when the sun was young. It suggests that the asteroids are a proto-planet that failed to gel into a planet. Another theory suggests that the asteroids are the remains of a planet that formed and later broke apart into fragments. A third theory suggests that the swarm or orbiting debris was left by passing comets, as one by one they paid their rare visits to the sun. But none of these educated guesses can be proved.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Robert Moyer, age 13, of Taber, Alberta, Canada, for his question:

Is there scientific proof of life in space?

There is no scientific proof that living things exist on other planets. But there is a lot of evidence that suggests that ours is not the only populated world in the universe. Most experts think that the seasonal changes on Mars are caused by Martian vegetation. On earth, the plant and animal kingdoms are independent. This may be true on Mars, but we have no proof of it.

The most logical suggestion for life on other worlds is a mathematical one. The elements and conditions throughout the universe are limited, and the same laws of chemistry operate everywhere. In our galaxy alone there are 100 billion stars, many or most of them with planets. It would be unreasonable to suppose that our little world is the only place where living things developed and flourished.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK—

"The new" Vaughn Meader speaks some shattering truthful words about Viet Nam in his act at the Cafe Au Gogo, in Greenwich Village.

"It isn't really much of a war," Meader says. "You know how you can tell a real good war? Bob Hope comes around a lot."

Although of course avoiding mention of the Kennedy's, Meader says a comedian, or humorist, must discuss politics today. "You know how Senator Goldwater celebrated Brotherhood Week. He invited his brother to lunch." "Why did the Republicans fight for the nomination just to have the distinction of losing? It's like a kid dreaming of being a major league baseball player and winding up with the NY Mets." He didn't spare President Johnson, whose speeches, he says, "are 100 per cent incoherent... but you know he means what he says."

Frank Sinatra, enroute to Rome, stopped here to pick up Jilly's and Mr. J's night clubs, and take him along to be in charge of the Sinatra security, protecting Frank from the Italian photos, the paparazzi, while Frank's filming "Von Ryan Express." It could be a bloody-war with Frank cherry-bombing the photos... Liz Taylor, cat lover, just bought a handsome Abyssinian: two of her cats have died in NY.

The poor Beatles will probably lose a lot of air play now that the Here Come the City Folk album (with Earl L. Wilson, Joe Von Riper and Judy Townsend) is being delivered to the disc jockies. The City Folk are different-type singers: they get haircuts.

Veteran umpire Jocko Conlan'll be hero of Jocko Conlan Day in Chicago Sept. 13, marking his retirement after 24 seasons. Seldom has an umpire had a day. But Jocko who was a bat boy, and later centre fielder, for the White Sox, now will retire to Scottsdale, Ariz., marveling that fans will have devoted considerable time to speaking nicely of an umpire.

SWEDEN CRITICAL

Viet Nam Attack Reports Queried

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—The Social Democratic newspaper Stockholm-Tidningen, which often reflects Swedish government views, has criticized foreign news agencies for their reports on the origin of the Gulf of Tonkin crisis between the U.S. and Communist North Viet Nam.

An editorial says: "The question of who fired first in the sea battles in the Tonkin Gulf throws a spotlight on the objectivity of our news media in crises of this type. This is not the first time that our news sources, which are chiefly of American or British origin, have risked misleading the Swedish press."

"It can now be seen that the first, simple version was not correct. The allegedly objective news agencies in the United States reported that American destroyers were attacked on two occasions by Communist PT (patrol-torpedo) boats without any provocation whatever."

"This made the situation apparently clear to many editorial writers in the other countries of the West, including Sweden. It was a Communist aggression."

VIEW CHANGES

But, the editorial added: "As far as can now be judged, partly on the basis of new American statements and partly after comparison with Communist sources, one gets a somewhat different picture of the situation."

"Even if it is true as President Johnson stated that there was no American provocation, it was clear that on the North Vietnamese side they thought there had been."

"It was South Vietnamese torpedo boats that attacked a North Vietnamese island, at the same time as an American destroyer showed up in the area, possibly without knowledge of the South Vietnamese attack."

"The North Vietnamese vessels, defending themselves against the South Vietnamese, suddenly came upon the American destroyer and thought it was taking part in the attack."

RAPS MEDIA

The editorial continued: "Nevertheless, our news media like those of the other Western countries (with the possible exception of the French) reacted, at least at first, by uncritically swallowing the official American version of the course of events, while either not noticing any other version at all or dismissing it as Communist propaganda."

"It is as obvious now as it was before that one cannot rely on Communist sources, and moreover the Communist reports were very sparse."

"But it should be more obvious after this incident and after the experience of the Cuba crisis, if not before, that one cannot rely on American news agencies either."

"It now seems likely that all the shooting was a mistake except the South Vietnamese attack which was deliberate."

Disasters Kill 35

SEOUL (Reuters)—At least nine South Korean soldiers died Wednesday in flood disasters which now have killed 35, including 15 soldiers, in Central Korea. Several of the army men died when their barracks collapsed at Pochon, 20 miles north of here.

Kenya Becoming A Free Republic

From Reuters-AP

NAIROBI (CP)—Kenya will introduce a constitution in December making it a republic within the British Commonwealth, Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta told Parliament today.

The constitution will be introduced Dec. 12, first anniversary of Kenya's independence from Britain.

Under Kenya's present association with the Commonwealth, Queen Elizabeth is, in effect, also Queen of Kenya. As a republic, this tie will be loosened and Kenya will acknowledge the Queen merely as head of the Commonwealth.

Kenyatta said the head of state in the proposed republic would be a president who would be leader of the majority party in Parliament. The president would appoint a cabinet from members of Parliament.

Kenyatta told Parliament that, if necessary, the government will hold a referendum of all registered voters in Kenya on the subject in November.

Kenyatta, jailed seven years as a leader of the anti-white Mau Mau terrorist organization, also announced plans for sweeping constitutional changes shifting power from Kenya's seven regional governments to the central administration.

The 73-year-old African leader said the constitution drawn up a year ago had proved too rigid, expensive and unwieldy.

Kenyatta became Kenya's first prime minister when his Kenya African National Union won the 1963 national elections.

JOMO KENYATTA

One Party Enough In Kenya?

NAIROBI (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta says his opponents in Parliament are "concocted grasshopper politicians" and Kenya doesn't need a two-party system.

In fact, said Kenyatta, a one-party state is inevitable in Kenya "because we do not subscribe to the notion of the government and governed in opposition to one another, one clamoring for duties and the other crying for rights."

"Do we have to create leaders of the opposition, maintain them from public funds and tolerate their insatiable desire for agitation merely because they want to oppose for opposition's sake?" he asked.

"Certainly not," said Kenyatta.

Police Kill Raiders

NAIROBI (Reuters)—Kenya police killed several of a party of Somali raiders who attacked a police patrol in Kenya's Somali-claimed north central region, it was reported here Thursday. Four policemen were wounded, three of them seriously, in the encounter near the regional capital of Garissa.

Trouble Easing In Race Wars

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Gasoline bombs, bottles and bricks crashed in the streets of Paterson's Negro district for the third successive night, but city officials called the disorder less serious.

In Elizabeth, police swinging nightsticks swept a street clear of hundreds of Negro and white youths at midnight after a police car was struck with a bottle. There, too, on the third night of violence, authorities said the tension appeared to be subsiding.

The pattern matched that of recent racial rioting in Harlem, Brooklyn and Rochester, N.Y., and Jersey City.

Paterson police reported that between 50 and 60 incidents occurred Thursday night in and near the city's predominantly Negro district. They arrested 23

Negroes, one white man and a dozen juveniles. The unidentified white man allegedly was arrested with a bottle in his hand.

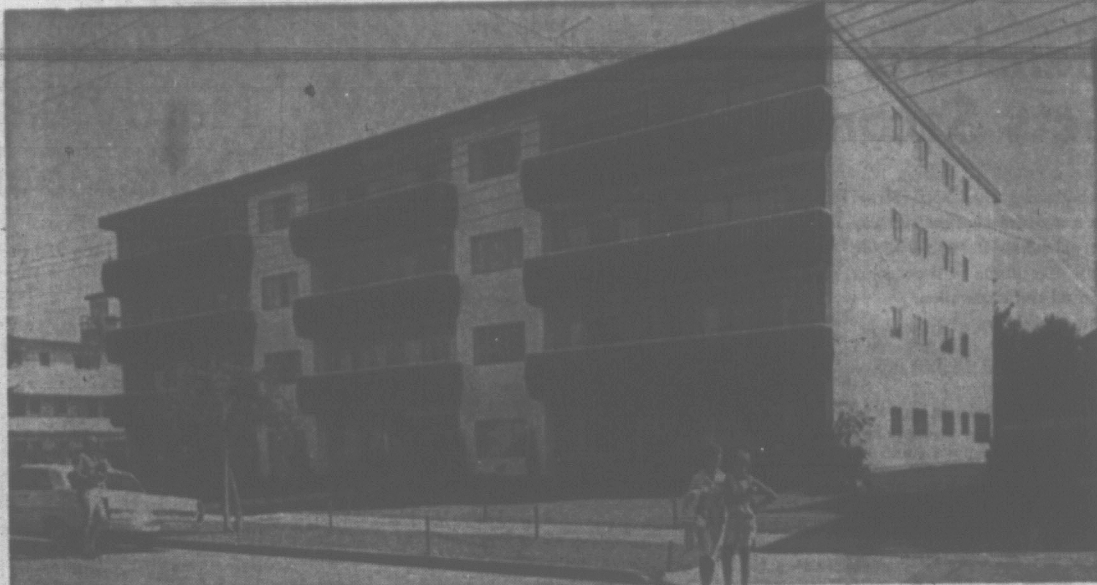

INJURIES WERE MINOR

Three policemen and a teenager suffered minor injuries. A police car was "extensively damaged" by rocks and bricks. Mayor Frank X. Graves said. Several store windows were smashed and a gasoline bomb set a small fire at a two-story business building.

Officials in both Elizabeth and Paterson, about 20 miles apart, have blamed "hoodlums" for the disturbances.

Six Negroes were arrested in Elizabeth, five of them in a car allegedly containing rubber hoses, gasoline bombs and bottles.

There were no injuries reported.

Blanshard Widening Gets Second Look

The original $1 million plan for widening Blanshard Street into a six-lane express highway and extending it from Hillside to the city limits is undergoing informal re-examination.

City engineering department employees have been resurveying the route for the past two or three days.

City Hall spokesmen say that the route is being re-examined so that a quick move could be made if the current Greater Victoria traffic survey should recommend the original plan. The re-examination is being conducted at departmental level and does not involve council.

The year-long traffic study's report is expected in late fall.

The city abandoned the original plan and extended Rose Street to the Mayfair Shopping Plaza as an alternative that has cost only about $200,000. Sault is now improving a road extending Rose Street's route to the Town and Country Shopping Plaza.

The city chose the cheaper alternative after there were indications from provincial sources that any relocation of the Patricia Bay Highway would not be tied in with a Blanshard extension.

Curious Children Uncover Bogus Bills

EDMONTON (CP)—Two curious children have led police to a major break in the investigation of a countrywide counterfeit ring, city detectives said Thursday.

A cache of 150 counterfeit $20 bills, mailed to an Edmonton address, was opened by youngsters eight and six years old and turned over to police.

Police said a woman who later called for the parcel was being questioned. The package was mailed from Grande Prairie, where about 15 of the fake bills have been cashed.

When the parcel arrived in Edmonton, the children opened it before their mother realized it was not addressed to her. Police were called and removed the money. They stuffed the parcel with paper and left it for further developments.

A short while later, police said, a woman telephoned to say a package had been delivered in error. When the caller came to pick up the package, police arrested her.

Police said the bills were similar to about 65 passed in Calgary in July. In June, the bogus bills were circulated in Montreal and Toronto. They later showed up in Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary.

Police said the bills are good copies but smudge when rubbed. The alertness of a Calgary merchant is credited by police with preventing a greater spread of the counterfeit bills.

Hardy Little Fuchsia Defies Salt Spray

By HILDA BEASTALL

There is a hardy little fuchsia especially beloved by those who live near the sea. Fuchsia magellanica, variety riccartonii.

From late July until the blustery days of winter rains, this graceful six-foot shrub whose parents came from the southern tip of Chile gallantly flaunts its red and purple pendants in the face of flying salt spray.

In mild winters, this fuchsia keeps some of its leaves and is ready at the first touch of spring to put out dozens of new shoots up and down each branch. If allowed to do this, the height can be increased during the summer to as much as 10 feet.

Normally we expect to cut the stems back quite drastically in early April to encourage stronger growth and more flowers. A summer hedge can easily be made with a few plants set out and pruned in this way.

An intriguing detail of color is that the leaf stems (petioles) and the leaf midribs are red as well as the stems of all the young shoots.

Because the leaves are small, this redness adds up to a considerable amount of color all summer even before the purple and red flowers commence opening.

The plants require a well-worked soil with plenty of moisture-retaining humus, for fuchsias are a thirsty race and in dry weather need copious amounts of water.

If these receive a boost of liquid fertilizer every other week in late summer, so much the greater flower display.

As a specimen, riccartonii looks well if given a lift by associating it with some small flowered, bright yellow plant such as a pompon chrysanthemum or dahila.

Senators Call for Parley To Untangle Tax Snarls

OTTAWA (CP)—As the government's latest set of tax agreements with the provinces became law Thursday, three senators called for a national conference to straighten out the country's complex federal-provincial tax setup and other constitutional problems.

The trio, Senator Wallace McCutcheon (PC—Ontario), Senator Allister Grosart (PC—Ontario), and Senator T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba), criticized the national confusion surrounding federal-provincial tax agreements and the respective rights, duties and responsibilities of the federal and provincial governments.

They urged that the two levels of government get together to hammer out a more definite division of their responsibilities, particularly in the field of taxation.

The Senate got its teeth into taxation during debate on the government's fiscal arrange-ment's bill, which received royal assent late Thursday.

The legislation puts into effect a series of complex arrangements worked out in federal-provincial talks over the last nine months.

The province gets a bigger slice of the tax dollar—an extra 4 per cent of personal income taxes in the next two years.

Equalization payments to low-revenue provinces will go up and the annual $8,000,000 grant to Newfoundland will be extended indefinitely.

Following the ceremony of royal assent, which was given by Supreme Court Justice Wilfred Judson, acting deputy governor-general, the Senate agreed to adjourn until Tuesday, Sept. 15, subject to recall if the flag legislation now before the Commons is available before that date.

Earlier, Senator Grosart said that a national conference of members of the federal parliament and members of all the provincial legislatures should be called in 1967, as part of Canada's anniversary of Confederation celebrations.

The conference would discuss the country's tax structure and related constitutional problems and would ratify suggestions put forward by the tax structure committee set up last spring at the Quebec City federal-provincial conference.

"REVIEW IN DEPTH"
The tax structure committee agreed upon at the Quebec City conference is scheduled to make a "review in depth" of Canadian tax resources in relation to the responsibilities of the federal and provincial governments.

In his discussion of the current federal-provincial tax situation, Senator McCutcheon said it is time for a thorough review of the constitution.

"Not a federal-provincial conference at which to sit down for three or four days and to go away with as many plums in your pocket as you can, but rather a conference representative of men of all parties in all provinces."

The former trade minister said his proposed conference "might last for weeks or months, as similar conferences have done."

Senator Crerar, who was a cabinet minister under MacKenzie King, called for "an arrangement, if possible, whereby federal responsibilities are definitely fixed, and then some agreement as to how the total revenues could be divided to enable each authority to carry out its responsibility."

"Above all, let us try to get this thing settled because if it is not settled within the next 10 or 15 years, or less, I fear for what may happen to the unity of this country because this, I think, is at the bottom of disunity more than anything else."

POLAR BEAR CUBS hitch a ride on their mother's back to flee the sound of the Ontario department of lands and forests aircraft which was on a picture assignment. The bears sought shelter in the sea when disturbed by the aircraft. Bears have been found over 100 miles from land or ice, which is evidence of their swimming capabilities. (CP photo)

Convicts to Carry Own Keys In Model Corrections Centre

SHELTON, Wash. (AP)—Convicts will carry the keys to their cells and their futures at the $14,000,000 Washington State Corrections Centre, one of the newest and most modern prisons in the United States.

The keys will unlock the cell doors. But it will take their cooperation in an extensive training program to open the iron gates for their return to society as useful, law-abiding citizens.

The proving ground for 720 prisoners will be this campus-type complex of 14 bright, airy buildings on a 400-acre site amid the forests of the southern Puget Sound country. It opens in October.

Missing are the high concrete walls that shut off the world, the cavernous cellblocks, the crowded cells. Iron bars are replaced by reinforced concrete security screens of waffle-like design.

The new institution embodies the latest in prison design, from the private cells, each with a view, to the 1½ miles of parallel wire fencing.

Many of the prisoners will get the benefit of high school classes, wide-ranging vocational courses and balanced recreational activities.

New convicts will be locked in their cells at night for the first three months. After that, if they show satisfactory progress, they'll keep their own keys.

The idea behind it, says prison Supt. Ernest C. Timpam, is to make them feel responsible for

SWEET MUSIC AGAIN

Lerner and Fair Lady Now Back on Road

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Broadway songwriter Alan Jay Lerner and his "Fair Lady," Micheline, were making sweet music again today following their reconciliation.

Lerner is the heir to the Lerner department store fortune and lyricist for such Broadway hits as "My Fair Lady," "Camelot," "Gigi," "Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon."

The couple and their five-year-old son, Michel, took over a cottage in the swank Beverly Hills Hotel.

"Yes, we are reconciled," Mrs. Lerner confirmed Thursday, but added, "I can't give you any comment."

Lerner, she said, was not at the hotel, but was expected to return over the weekend.

Desperate Criminals Believed in B.C.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — RCMP said Thursday that two of Canada's most wanted criminals may be camping out in the B.C. Interior, and have asked the public to relay any information about them.

The RCMP subdivision here said that Georges Lemay, 39, of Shawinigan Falls, Que., and Adolphe Karchesky, 44, of St. Calixte, Que., are believed to have purchased fishing supplies and are "living off the woods."

at a remote lake in this central Interior area.

Lemay is wanted by Montreal police in connection with a theft from a bank, and $10,000 in rewards have been offered for information leading to his capture.

Karchesky is wanted for escaping from Kingston Penitentiary in Ontario, where he was serving a five-year sentence for armed robbery. At one time he was serving a life sentence, but was paroled after serving 11 years.

Police said both men could be considered dangerous.

Fisherman Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Anthony Klamut, 35, of Prince Rupert, drowned Wednesday after a cable aboard the fishboat Anna S parted, hit him in the back, and knocked him into Whale Channel.

"We saw Tony in the water for a few seconds and then he went straight down," said Ivan McGhan, skipper of the Anna S. He is survived by his wife and four children.

Actress Wins Freedom For Granny

MOSCOW (UPI)—Hollywood actress Rita Lee received Soviet exit documents for her 90-year-old grandmother today and got ready to whisk her away to the United States.

The actress said she and her grandmother hoped to leave Russia this afternoon and fly to London en route to the U.S.

"I'm so happy, so happy," Miss Lee's grandmother said when they had finished picking up Communist exit papers and an American entry visa.

The old woman smiled broadly. It appeared her weary struggle to get out of the Soviet Union was ending. But the blonde actress said they planned to spend at least one night in London before flying to New York.

"Thank God, thank America, thank you," the elderly lady had commented earlier.

SEVEN AIRMEN DIE IN CRASH

TOKYO (AP)—The crash of a U.S. Air Force KB-50 tactical refueling plane 140 miles north of Tokyo Thursday killed seven airmen, the U.S. Air Force confirmed today.

Officials also said four other men were injured. Cause of the crash was not known.

SYNCOM II AND C

Satellite To Help Other Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Space Agency says it is ready for a first—using a satellite already in orbit to help direct another satellite into the proper orbit.

The feat will be attempted next Tuesday when Syncom II, a communications satellite in near-stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the mid-Pacific, will assist Syncom C, a sister satellite, after its launching from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The orbit chosen from Syncom C is the same as Syncom II's—to hover above the international dateline at the equator. Where Syncom II will come in is to relay radio communications from the Pacific, thus bypassing weather conditions and ionospheric disturbances frequent between surface points. These communications will be used at the space flight centre at Greenbelt, Md., to help get Syncom C in proper orbit.

RED JETS A WORRY ADMITS U.S. GENERAL

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force commander in the Pacific, Gen. Hunter Harris Jr., said today the movement of Communist Chinese jet fighters into North Viet Nam "obviously has caused concern."

Harris declined to say whether the United States will fly more jets to South Viet Nam to counter the Communist move.

POLICE GUN DOWN BANDIT

'Either Him or Me'

TORONTO (CP)—An armed bandit was critically wounded and another arrested today as police flushed them out of an east-end bank they were attempting to rob.

The bandit was shot between the eyes by Const. James Tough as he spun to fire at the constable in the foyer of the Toronto-Dominion Bank branch at the corner of Queen and Logan Streets. Police said he was in grave condition in hospital.

The second bandit, who emerged from the bank clutching a woman as a shield, threw his hands into the air in a gesture of surrender as his accomplice fell. Police said he was not armed.

Police identified the wounded man as Ronald Hobday, 33. They said he would be charged with armed robbery and breaking and entering. Also arrested was his brother, Russell, 34, who faces the same two charges plus one of possessing a sawed-off shotgun that was found in his Toronto home.

"It was either him or me," said Const. Tough, 28, father of two who has been a policeman for three years. "I wasn't going to get shot so I made sure it was him."

Police said the bandits forced their way through the roof of the bank during the night. As nine employees, five of them women, reported for work, they were herded into the manager's office.

PHONE POLICE

The 10th and last employee, a woman clerk, became alarmed when she noticed the blinds were drawn. She ran next door to a confectioner and asked him to phone police.

Const. Tough, patrolling on a motorcycle a block away, arrived with another policeman a minute later. They ran into the bank and saw the bandits. Const. Tough hid in the foyer while the other policeman ran outside to warn reinforcements who had arrived.

Minister Says Vote Unlikely

By FRANK RUTTER

There is definitely no chance of a federal election this year and prospects are unlikely in 1965, Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill said here today.

The federal cabinet minister pooh-poohed any question that the issue of Canada's new flag could precipitate a vote.

"The public has decided the flag question. It is settled," he said emphatically.

"One of these days Parliament will catch up with the public."

Mr. Pickersgill said Canada will retain the Union Jack as a symbol of its relationship with the Commonwealth and will have its own flag, too.

"The public generally is quite satisfied with this, he declared.

SPECULATION

There has been considerable speculation about an election, not necessarily on the flag issue, but Mr. Pickersgill firmly discounted the idea.

Parliament's approval last week of a supply bill to give the government spending money until Oct. 31 decided that there would be no vote in 1964, Mr. Pickersgill said.

As for next year:

"I hope there will be none and don't expect there will be," he added.

David Groos, Victoria's Liberal MP, who is also here today, agreed.

'NOT IN CARDS'

"There is absolutely nothing in the cards," he said.

Mr. Groos said Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker seems to believe the government is trying to manoeuvre him into the position of forcing an election, but this is absolutely unfounded.

"We are determined to sit this thing out," he said.

Mr. Pickersgill is here to open the new airport terminal this evening with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

He had lunch at Government House.

Mr. Pickersgill also met Premier W. A. C. Bennett at Kelowna Thursday during the annual regatta celebrations.

BODE TOGETHER

"We had a very nice talk and rode in the parade together," he said.

However, he declined to comment on Mr. Bennett's bid for a chartered bank.

The matter of the Bank of B.C. is still before the Senate. Mr. Pickersgill said his only possible concern with the bank will be as an MP, not as a member of the government.

This would only be, he said, in the event of a private bill incorporating the bank going before the House of Commons. "Private bills rise and fall, you know," was all he would say.

Mr. Pickersgill said that the new airport terminal is an essential link in the Trans-Canada chain.

"I have the feeling that while water traffic and road travel has taken some of the edge off air travel, it is still going to be very important," he added.

WIRE BRIEFS

MONTREAL (CP)—A bomb explosion today at Richelieu Raceway in suburban Pointe-aux-Trembles ripped away part of a grandstand wall and shattered windows but no injuries were reported.

Six Die in Crash

Plucked from Beach

KETCHIKAN (AP)—Four crew members of the ill-fated power sloop Sea Otter were en route to Seaward today after being plucked from a rocky beach Thursday night by a U.S. coast guard rescue team. The men, all in good condition, said they had beached the 78-foot sloop after she began flooding faster than her three pumps could expel the water.

Red Satellite Up

No Jurisdiction

OTTAWA (CP)—Authorities here said today the federal Parliament has absolutely no jurisdiction over the Alberta treasury branches or their operations. ISTANBUL (Reuters)—Nihat Erkin, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Turkish National Assembly, left today for Geneva by air to resume talks on Cyprus peace moves.

France Volunteers

PARIS (AP)—The French government said today the Cyprus problem should be settled through an accord between Greece and Turkey. The government added that France is willing to aid in reaching such an understanding.

NEW FLAG OFFICER, Pacific coast will be Rear-Admiral Michael G. Stirling, 49, of Kelowna who replaces Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore. Defence Minister Paul Hellyer announced today Rear-Admiral Landymore will be transferred to the navy's Atlantic Command to succeed Rear-Admiral Jeffrey Brock as Atlantic Coast flag officer when he retires in mid-November.

MP's Son Jailed In Fraud

LONDON (Reuters) — Ernest Shinwell, son of a former Labor party defence minister, today was ordered held in custody by a court on three charges of stock fraud.

Shinwell, 45, was described as a marketing consultant. He is the son of Emanuel Shinwell, 79, who has been a member of Parliament for 34 years and held the defence post in the Labor government elected in 1945.

The court refused Ernest Shinwell bail after a detective said "I had the impression that he intended to leave the country rather than face these charges."

The judge set Sept. 1 and 2 as the dates for a further hearing. The charges against Shinwell are:

—That he attempted to use seven documents purporting to be 14,000 shares in the Quaker Oats Company of America, knowing them to be forged, and with intent to defraud.

—That he attempted to cause the sum of about $8,500 to be paid by a William Lowenthal to the African Continental Bank, London, by falsely pretending that 2,000 shares in the F. W. Woolworth Company of America were good and valid securities.

—And that he attempted to cause William Lowenthal to deposit $28,000 to his order at Martins Bank, London, by falsely representing the Woolworth shares were good and valid securities.

GREAT HOPES FOR MEETING

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said in the Commons today he hopes a meeting with opposition party leaders next week will be effective in discussing the progress of parliamentary business. (See Page 3).

Caouette Plans Senate Blockade

OTTAWA (CP)—Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes poised a legislative barrier Thursday in front of all bills from the Senate.

He indicated their aim is to get further action by the upper chamber on a bill seeking a bank charter for the proposed Bank of British Columbia in which that province's Social Credit government holds an interest.

Mr. Caouette served notice in the Commons that his 13-member group will try to block all bills originating in the Senate, which has sent the B.C. bank bill to a committee for study.

A number of measures, including some sponsored by the government, now are on the order paper of the Senate, which can initiate any legislation except that involving spending of public funds. Two private measures seeking bank charters for two other groups started their way through Parliament in the

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said today the commander of the UN force in Cyprus wants the force brought up to its authorized strength but he denied that Secretary-General U Thant has asked Canada for additional troops.

Mr. Martin said in the Commons that no formal request has been made for an increase in the 1,125-man Canadian force now serving with the UN under Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India.

But Gen. Thimayya has indicated that he would like to see the force up to the strength authorized by the UN Security Council resolution under which it was established last spring. He did not give the figure of authorized strength.

Mr. Martin said he had suggested to the UN, that in seeking to increase the peacekeeping force, it should look to other countries so far not participating.

CONTRIBUTE 1,200 MEN
The Commons had authorized up to 1,200 Canadians as this country's contribution. If there was to be any increase beyond that figure for Canada, "of course we would have to come back to the House."

NDP Leader Douglas said that since, next to the United Kingdom, Canada now is the largest contributor to the peacekeeping force now, she "has a right to expect" the co-operation of Archbishop Makarios and the government of Cyprus in the force's operation.

Mr. Martin said that was true, but extension of the force's authority is dependent upon agreement between the United Nations and the Cypriot government. Enlargement of the size of the force is dependent upon agreement in the United Nations Security Council.

Mr. Martin, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's request for a report, said the participating countries in the force met Thursday, Canada pressed for "enhancement" of the authority of the force to place it in a better position to carry out its peace-keeping duties on the Mediterranean island. Further talks were planned.

The force was working within "severely circumscribed limits" but, without action on be-

ARTURO FRONDISI ... escapes hurt

Gun-Toting Gang Raids Dinner Party

From AP-Reuters
BUENOS AIRES (CP)—Former president Arturo Frondizi escaped injury Thursday night in a daring raid on a dinner party by gun-wielding youths who injured four persons.

Among the injured was Frondizi's brother who suffered a broken arm and another man who had his skull fractured.

Police said it was not immediately known if the injuries were caused by bullets or flying furniture.

They said about 15 armed youths burst into the dinner attended by about 600 guests, many of them women.

CONDITION SERIOUS

The man with a fractured skull, believed to be labor union leader Ruiz Diaz, was given an emergency operation and was in serious condition.

A local news agency said Ruiz Diaz was wounded by a bullet which also grazed a parliamentary deputy's head.

At the height of the affray, guests hurled bottles, chairs, glasses and cutlery at the youths—then threw themselves to the ground. The youths fled.

Frondizi, deposed in March, 1962, blamed the government of President Arturo Illia. The government declined comment.

$83,000 Airport Robbery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four neatly dressed armed men driving a white automobile forced an American Airlines cashier to open a safe at Kennedy International Airport this morning and made off with $83,000 in cash and $20,000 in cheques, police reported.

The cashier, John Young, told police he was on his way to work when he was approached a block away from his home by a white car. He said the car pulled to the curb, two men jumped out, and he was forced into the back seat at gunpoint.

Young said the car sped to the American Airlines hangar at the airport, where the four men forced him to open the ground floor office and unlock the safe.

New Regulations Set for Chinese

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Tremblay announced today that effective Sept. 1 Chinese immigrants in Canada illegally will no longer have the privilege of adjusting their status to that of legally-admitted immigrants.

He told the Commons during debate on his department's 1964-65 spending program that Chinese smuggled into Canada from early 1960 until early 1962 have had ample time to put their affairs in order.

"Henceforth from Sept. 1, 1964, the RCMP and immigration officers are being instructed to apply the law to Chinese in exactly the same way as to other residents of Canada."

This means that after Sept. 1 any Chinese found to be in Canada illegally will be subject to deportation.

SMUGGLED INTO CANADA

The Chinese status adjustment program was adopted in November, 1960, by former Conservative immigration minister Ellen Fairclough. It was announced after the then Conservative government felt it had broken the back of a racket under which between 6,000 and 9,000 Chinese were smuggled into Canada illegally from Hong

Ska's the Limit for Dancing Jerky Puppets

By JIM BIGSBY

No matter what you think of the Jamaica Ska when you first see it danced, you'll agree it has at least one good point.

It's supposed to replace the twist.

At least that's the hope of Arthur Murray and the Jamaican government who jointly exported the ska from its Kingston birthplace.

The ska has certain advantages over the twist which become obvious upon watching two skaers, or whatever they call themselves.

For one thing, skaers are not likely to be arrested.

Unlike the twist, the ska has no movements which would outrage puritans.

Another advantage is that skaers will not be carted off on a stretcher to be untied and straightened out by a team of boy scouts and chiropractors. The ska has no unnatural contortions.

And for the out-of-shape the ska offers far more relaxation and far fewer cramps than the twist.

Straighten up and repeat the process to the right, so that you're curtsying right and left and so on.

Now add the basic arm motions.

As you step to the left, fling both arms out sideways. As you touch your right toe behind the left foot, with bent knees, cross both arms in front.

All varieties of arm movement can be improvised. Many ska arm movements have been borrowed from other recent dances such as the surfer, hitchhiker, dog, and others.

The other foot movement is the progressive walk, which is done by stepping forward on one foot and bending the appropriate knee, at the same time kicking out your other foot behind you.

The object of the progressive walk is to feel like a jerky puppet but not to feel like a jerk.

Special ska music is being recorded, but no records are available here yet. Until such time as Victorians are blown ska-high by the Latin beat from Kingston, a slow twist record can be used by novice skaers.

We've saved the best until now. You actually do get to touch your partner during one step.

Ready? Standing about four feet away from him (or her), both lean forward until your foreheads are touching, then pivot around in what's called the Roll.

Touching foreheads. Tak, tak. Next thing you know this younger generation will be dancing hand in hand and arm on shoulder.

THEY EVEN TOUCH HEADS during The Roll, the most energetic and intimate step of the new dance crazy (sic), the Jamaican Ska, here being

inexpertly done on the roof of the Victoria Press by reporter Jim Bigsby and Linda McClung. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Arthur Mayse

One day in our first Victoria April, Win and I looked around from our border-grubbing to find that a wide, thick brown man had materialized behind us as if sprung from Gordon Head's good earth. His wiry black hair was peppered with grey. He wore work boots, khaki pants scrubbed thin at the knees, and an ancient bush jacket of vaguely military cut.

We recognized him as the Chinese gardener who planted, pruned and weeded two days a week for Mrs. Mac, our neighbor on the other side of the masking greenery.

His name, we knew, was Foon.

"Lots of work," he said.

This was fast learning. Our previous garden experience had been confined to handkerchief-sized city plots that required but a lick and a promise to keep them tidy. Nor were we prepared for the incredible growth-surge of a South Island spring.

The notion struck us both: here, perhaps, was the key to our dilemma, the angel unaware.

We showed Foon around the property, or rather he led us with masterful assurance from rose plot to rockery to the sheltered house-corner where we were informed a peach tree would thrive.

When the tour ended, we consulted with a quick glance. Then Win asked Foon if he had a free day.

He deliberated. At length his broad and weather-beaten face crinkled in a smile warm as the sunlight.

"I come Monday," he announced. "You get blood-and-bone fertilizer, maybe 12 flower pots. Big ones." The smile became a grin. "I grow you chrysanthemums for Christmas."

Foon came on Monday. He wore a pith helmet. Slung about him were two separate, bulging haversacks, the entire contents of which we never did learn.

Ron, Susan and our black lab, Paddy, met him on the driveway. Foon halted, and reached into pockets which also bulged.

Gravely, in a ritual which was to continue unaltered each Monday for years, he produced from one pocket English toffee in gay wrappers, and from the other, dog biscuits.

In our kitchen, he unbuckled one of his knapsacks and brought out a gift of iris bulbs, which he presented to us with a small flourish, as if offering a treat to other children.

Then, still with the same leasured dignity, Foon paced off to take over our garden. Foon took us over, too.

Like many artists, he was bossy, opinionated and temperamental. No crisis, not even word that visitors were to descend on us from distant points, would speed his deliberate progress along a border.

Our prized Peace rose diminished cutting by cutting as it was exchanged for roots, plants and slips from other gardens where Foon had a day.

But over coffee and a rolled cigarette, he would enchant us with tales of his youth in the China where his wife and sons still dwell.

We learned of the spotted snake (portrayed with appropriate writhings and hissings) that almost bit him as he fished in a canal. He told us about the old women of Macao, merry on their verandas of a blue evening while they magicked firecrackers from coarse paper and a pinch of gunpowder.

And faithfully each Christmas, Foon turned our porch into a glory of red, bronze, white and yellow chrysanthemums. Much—I suppose too much—of his time between April and December went into nurturing and fussing over his pets.

But when we gazed on those florid pompons, each perfect, each the size of my two fists, we shared Foon's pride and pleasure in this his masterpiece.

In a year when income lagged behind outgo, we could no longer afford Foon's Monday.

Foon found another garden. He continued to visit us. His hair turned altogether grey, and when he stopped by last Christmas, he had been for several years an old-age pensioner.

One day this spring, he came when we were out. We found his worn matted hair and clippers stowed behind a juniper that grows close against our house. Foon would call for them presently, we supposed, and linger for coffee as he used to.

But he didn't. Foon, one of the vanishing clan of wise, gentle, crotchety, infinitely loyal Chinese gardeners who have helped shape Victoria's floral loveliness, never stopped by again.

Win and I went to his funeral on Thursday afternoon. For a while we were alone in the sunny chapel; but as the Rev. Howard Ha commenced the simple service, an elderly man with the grained brown look of a gardener slipped in from the street.

Among the flowers on the casket were two big yellow chrysanthemums, the sort Foon grew for his friends.

I think he would have approved them.

FOULIS APPEALS RULING

A man accused of fraud involving almost a quarter-million dollars is attempting to have the Supreme Court quash the charges.

Robert Foulis of Salt Spring Island was charged as a result of a scheme involving the buying and reselling of liquor.

His lawyer, A. M. Manson of Vancouver, earlier made several complicated legal motions to have the charges against his client quashed, but the motions were denied by Magistrate William Ostler.

This morning in city magistrate's court, Mr. Manson said he intends to ask a Supreme Court judge to review Magistrate Ostler's rulings on the motions.

The hearing in the higher court is set for Sept. 3. If the judge backs up Magistrate Ostler then Foulis will appear in magistrate's court Sept. 11 to plead to the charges and elect trial.

3-Month Term

Kenneth Robertson, 2753 Martindale, was sentenced in Saanich police court to three months in jail Thursday for driving while under suspension.

WHITE-HAIRED WOMAN FINED $300 AS BOOKIE

A white-haired woman dressed in black except for a big white flower admitted in court this morning that she is a bookie.

Mrs. Doreen Bradbury, 1221 Richardson, was fined $300 for keeping a betting house.

Sergeant Ron Bentley said he and other policemen raided Mrs. Bradbury's home Saturday afternoon and found racing forms and other bookmaking paraphernalia in the kitchen.

Mrs. Bradbury admitted the offence, he said.

ARROWS SHOT INTO AIR

City Butt for New Sport

Robin Hood would lean on his bow and quiver at the thought of automatic indoor archery ranges soon to be set up in Victoria—and other Canadian cities.

Two rival companies today announced plans to build indoor ranges, with automatic bows, where archers can practise their favorite sport come wind or rain.

Neither company has yet decided where the Victoria ranges will be located, but both said they would do so within a few days.

PUSH-BUTTON

With electrically-operated targets, archers will only have to press a button for the targets to be returned to them, so they can retrieve their arrows.

Canamatic Archery Ltd. of

Ladysmith announced that it expects to have an eight-lane indoor archery range operating in Victoria by October.

Victoria businessman Norman Loomer announced that his company, now being incorporated, will have an indoor range in Victoria "within a month or two."

Meanwhile, on Oct. 1, his company will open a 20-lane range on Seymour Street, Vancouver.

GROWTH RAPID

Both companies stated independently that indoor archery has grown rapidly in the United States in recent years and they expect it will spread from Victoria and Vancouver to other Canadian cities.

Mr. Loomer said his company will establish a manufacturing plant—possibly in Victoria—for the production of archery lanes with fibreglass partitions; bows of all sizes for men, women and children; fibreglass arrows, full-size targets and the machinery required to return the targets to the archers.

"We shall also provide work for instructors, attendants, salesmen, electricians and carpenters," he said.

Holds franchise Mr. Loomer has just returned from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, where he inspected the Ben Pearson Archery Company's plant.

He has an exclusive franchise for the manufacture of this equipment in Canada.

Mr. Loomer is recommending the installation of indoor archery ranges in bowling alleys.

"I believe indoor archery can go hand-in-hand with bowling," he said, "and I hope B.C. bowling alleys will recognize the opportunity for re-energizing their business."

The Canamatic Archery Company of Ladysmith announced that when its $40,000 indoor archery range opens in Victoria in October it will be "the first in Canada."

Salmon Derby

A salmon derby sponsored by Sidney Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in aid of the Sidney symphony concert series will be held Sunday from day-break until 2 p.m.

Anglers can get derby tickets at most Sidney boathouses, but it is not necessary to catch a fish to reel in a prize.

SKILFISH GAY, TIMID

Victoria's little skilfish is reportedly in good health at his new home, the Undersea Gardens, although divers report that he seems quite timid.

The rare denizen of the ocean depths was captured by the crewman of the weather-ship Stonetown and turned over to the Gardens where the Stonetown docked here Thursday.

He said Arthur Williams of Ladysmith first captured the enthusiasm of up-island businessmen for archery.

Mr. Williams, a Welshman who started making bows for a hobby, opened a $300 business in Ladysmith 15 years ago.

Other would-be Robin Hoods were fired by his enthusiasm and last year they formed the Canamatic Archery Company.

Mr. Williams joined the company as technical adviser and secretary-treasurer. He holds the Pacific Northwest distance record for shooting an arrow 650 yards, 2 feet, 8 inches.

He is president of the Canadian Archers' Association.

He said the picture was even worse than that because the man would first have to use up his unemployment insurance benefits—lasting from weeks to many months—before he could even start the three-months welfare wait.

He said Mr. Campbell's decision is loaded against the able-bodied man who wants work as well as against the municipalities.

"It means he has to be unemployed for many months—in fact he might not be eligible until next summer," said Mayor Wilson.

City manager Dennis Young pointed out the picture was even worse than that because the man would first have to use up his unemployment insurance benefits—lasting from weeks to many months—before he could even start the three-months welfare wait.

He said Mr. Campbell's decision is loaded against the able-bodied man who wants work as well as against the municipalities.

"It means he has to be unemployed for many months—in fact he might not be eligible until next summer," said Mayor Wilson.

Call for Tenders Due in October On Federal Block

Tenders will be called in October for a new federal government office building in Victoria, Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill said today.

The $1 million building will be at Pandora and Vancouver on property formerly owned by the city.

The three-storey building, featuring pre-cast concrete panels,

will house three federal departments.

The income tax division will move out of the Belmont Building on Government Street.

The National Employment Service and Unemployment Insurance Commission will vacate their present quarters at 1039 Johnson. They will have separate offices in the new building in line with a change in government policy.

The new building will contain about 45,000 square feet.

It will have parking facilities for 50 to 75 cars and extensive landscaping.

It has been designed by architects Wade, Stockill and Armour.

Plans are "well on now," an official of the federal public works department said.

Mr. Pickersgill said it is hoped that construction will begin in January.

The site has already been cleared.

Mr. Pickersgill, here to open Victoria's new airport terminal, tonight at 8, said Ottawa is still undecided about the site for a big marine service depot to be built on the waterfront.

It will either be in Victoria's Inner Harbor or in Esquimalt harbor, he said.

"We are still trying to work out the problem of getting the necessary property."

Discussions are under way between federal officials and property owners at both sites, he added.

Mr. Pickersgill also said that a proposed federal institute of oceanography will be built alongside the marine depot.

It had previously been thought the institute would be located at the University of Victoria, but Ottawa decided it would be better to have easy access to dock facilities.

"Our plan is to put them together as a single project," Mr. Pickersgill said.

The transport minister said he had no comment on B.C. government pleas for more federal subsidies to ferries on the west coast.

Laing Studies Craigflower Restoration

Federal Resources Minister Arthur Laing is here to investigate a plan to restore Craigflower manor as an historic site.

The federal and provincial governments opened negotiations in June for a cost-sharing agreement on the project.

Mr. Laing is to visit the 110-year-old farm house Saturday morning.

Going with him are Victoria MP Groos and Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, representing the provincial government.

Both governments are anxious to purchase the historic building before it becomes hemmed in by commercial development.

It would be restored to its former glory and opened to the public.

The manor, at Craigflower Road and Admirals, was built as a farm for the Puget Sound Agricultural Company, a subsidiary of the Hudson's Bay Co.

It was operated by Kenneth MacKenzie, a Scot, who came to Victoria aboard the ship Norman Morrison.

It is the oldest surviving farm in the area and was the centre of an early Fort Victoria settlement.

Ask The Times

Q. When did the Red Ensign become the flag of Canada? How and by whom was it decided to be so?

A. Canada has legal and widely-recognized flag abroad but no finally accepted flag for use at home. An order-in-council dated Sept. 5, 1945, says it is appropriate to fly the Red Ensign when it is desired to mark a Canadian significance.

This flag had a legal recognition abroad since 1924 when Parliament enacted a law that provided for the flying of this flag over any Canadian building abroad.

The Red Ensign became a Canadian flag in 1993 when flown by the mercantile marine.

Fifi Lacks the Scents to Get Herself Found

By TERRY IZZARD

Whatever happened to Fifi? Did some mean skunk steal her? Or did she finally get a whiff of the wild outdoors?

Either way, Fifi is gone.

Tail erect, nose to the ground, she quietly slipped away from home one day last week.

Unfortunately her best hope of being found is gone for ever.

For Fifi is a skunk without a stink.

The pet of Pat and Nancy McLoughlin, 1180 Rock Street, she lost the ability to give off an odor as a baby.

Now two years old, she is so tame her owners don't think she will be able to live long out-on-her-own.

All seven pounds of the black and white fluff ball slipped out of the front door while nobody was looking.

Scared of traffic and strangers, she probably slipped into nearby Playfair Park to hide under bushes.

Chances of her being found by day are pretty slim, as Fifi, product of a Vancouver pet shop, is nocturnal (she sleeps all day).

So every evening Pat and Nancy tour the area, searching under bushes and asking neighbors if they have seen the family pet.

Sometimes Pat, an insurance agent, takes another scout round before leaving for work.

TOPICS of the DAY

"A and B" groups of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History will meet Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Francis Park to take part in a tree survey project.

The Nature House will be open during the week from 10 a.m. till 5 p.m.

A 21-year-old man who stole a pair of men's trousers from a car tried to sell them for $2 in a downtown beer parlor, city court was told this morning.

Gary Joseph, of East Saanich Reserve, pleaded guilty to the theft. He was remanded to Aug. 21 for sentence.

Constable Gordon Bennett said Joseph took the trousers from a car in the 500-block Comorant early on the afternoon of Aug. 6.

Cons. Bennett said that when he checked a beer parlor about one hour later Joseph tried to walk out leaving the trousers on his chair. The accused was drunk, the officer said.

Victoria's new airport terminal at Patricia Bay will be officially opened tonight at 8 by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Speakers will include Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor R. B. Wilson of Victoria.

An exhibition of handweaving created by children between the ages of seven and 16 at the summer classes in the Victoria Art Gallery will open Sunday, and continue through to Aug. 23.

Children will demonstrate weaving techniques on both Sundays between 2 and 5 p.m. Classes have been held under the instruction of Miss Florence Daniels.

Sailors of Pacific Command will perform a sunset ceremony Tuesday at 8 p.m. in front of the Legislative Buildings.

The 25-minute ceremony will be performed by the 48-member HMCS Naden band under the direction of Lieut. Tudor Jones supplemented by a 48-man guard and a 32-man gun crew under Lieut. Jack Rafter.

The same group will be in Vancouver from Aug. 22 to Sept. 7 to perform sunset ceremonies at the Pacific National Exhibition nightly except Sundays.

Vote on Semi-Metro 'Unnecessary' Now

A yes-no plebiscite on amalgamation of Greater Victoria services is unnecessary at this time, Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said today.

He was commenting on a statement by J. L. Phelps, a candidate in Langford for the study group which will try to work out plans for a joint services board.

Mr. Phelps said the people affected should be given a chance to vote on the scheme, rather than only electing spokesmen to the study group.

Mr. Campbell replied that any suggestion of a vote is premature. He appeared cool to the idea at any time, though he did not entirely rule out the possibility.

He said his undertaking is to work out the scheme with elected representatives.

They are supposed to be the voice of the residents of the areas involved, he said.

A SERVICE STARTS, ANOTHER ENDS

Bus Now Serves Port Renfrew

Ghosts of the old stage lines were revived when John Drury hit the trail again this week. His mode of transport was a little quicker, far more comfortable and infinitely less hazardous. Yet there was something reminiscent of the past as his old bus trundled along the road to Port Renfrew.

TRAIL BETTER

The trail itself was in better condition than ever it was when the stage passed by. But even now there is nothing to remind one of the luxuries of highway driving. Aboard the bus for its maiden voyage this week were just six people. To Mr. Drury the service is a dream come true.

TRAFFIC GROWS

Over the years he has watched traffic grow on the West Coast Road. At last he decided the time was ripe to introduce his service from Victoria.

Cost of a one-way ticket for the 75-mile journey aboard the Drury Special is $3.40. Return is only $5.50. Many of the people using the service will be loggers and miners. Up to now, cab fare to Port Renfrew has been about $25.

FREIGHT TOO

Mr. Drury will also carry freight in a space made by ripping out 13 of the bus' seats. Only snag with the present schedule is that it means an overnight stay. And the service does not operate each day of the week for economic reasons. It operates out of C & C Transportation Depot, 906 Government Street.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Dynamite Cap Injures Boy

LADYSMITH (CP)—Klaus Laakso, 15, of Ladysmith, is in St. Joseph's Hospital following an accident Tuesday in which a dynamite cap exploded.

His condition is good. The youth was walking near here when he picked up a small metal cylinder lying on the ground.

The cylinder, later identified as a dynamite cap, exploded when he picked it up, blowing off one finger.

The road link to the north end of Vancouver Island will be open to weekend traffic.

Officials at Crown Zellerbach say repairs to their Beaver Cove Bridge have advanced sufficiently to permit travel in that time.

It will open Friday, 6 p.m. to midnight Sunday.

NANAIMO—Support for lifeguards in this area is not too good.

So says Frank Anzik, head of Nanaimo and District Water Safety Association.

He said enough money to pay lifeguards so far had been scraped together. But a further $1,000 will be needed for August.

He expressed concern over the lack of public support of the association which hires lifeguards for Departure Bay, Harwood Dam and Westwood Lake beaches.

A giant bingo session later in the month may be the answer to the financial difficulties facing the association, he added.

DUNCAN—H Cowichan Jersey Club were winners of an elimination contest for the PNE at Cowichan Exhibition Grounds this week.

The team, consisting of Maur-reen Kinney and Allison Meyer, beat three other teams to take the honors.

Two teams from Southern Vancouver Island will spend a week at the PNE. One will be from Saanich, the other from Cowichan-Cobble Hill area.

NANAIMO (CP)—Plans for a swimming pool which was to have been built in Bowen Park may have to be scrapped. The problem is that a new provincial government edict on winter works employment, the municipality will only qualify for provincial grants if welfare recipients are hired.

City collector Bob Rowledge said Thursday that skilled tradesmen, who will be needed to build the pool, are rarely found on welfare work.

Coal Shed Burns

NANAIMO—An old coal shed adjoining a house at the corner of Victoria and Farquhar was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

LUXTON SITE OF SUNDAY HORSE SHOW

Many Vancouver Island districts will be represented at an open horse show Sunday at Luxton Fair Grounds, under the sponsorship of the Garden City Horsemen's Club of Victoria.

The 15-event program will get under way at 10 a.m. with Lieut. Cndr. James Boyd judging.

In addition to open events in both English and Western classes, there will be team events with at least seven competing. They will come from Comox, Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Metchosin Equestrian Centre, Colwood Trail Riders, U-Tree Highlanders and the Garden City Club.

Clayoquot P.O. Closes Door

CLAYOQUOT—The post office here—oldest on the west coast—has closed.

Mayor Les Hammer, of Port Alberni, and supervisory postmaster for the West Coast area, officiated at the closing ceremony.

This consisted of handing over books and ledgers used at the Clayoquot Hotel and store, by Mrs. Betty Farmer, who had operated Stubbs Island Commercial Enterprises until selling out last month.

OLD ACCOUNTS

Accounts kept in the ledgers date back to the days of fur seal hunting on the West Coast when the late W. T. Dawley ran a hotel, store and post office.

Prospectors and surveyors made up the bulk of guests at the hotel, while names of early mining promoters are also on the record.

Mrs. Farmer, who is making her home in Tofino, gave the records to Mr. Hammer to keep for an Alberni Valley museum.

URGES MUSEUM

The mayor said he was interested in having a museum started in the district.

He also announced plans are under way to close Kawkaw's post office on Meares Island.

Residents here must now send their mail from Tofino.

Fining four offenders $15, Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts warned that in future the fine would be $18.50 if the offence continued to occur.

RCMP said enforcement of traffic regulations at all traffic trouble spots in the city would continue.
